OVER 300 NOW REPORTED DEAD

Death Toll in Canadian Fires Growing.

PROPERTY LOSS WILL RUN INTO MILLIONS

Refugees Tell of Three Miraculous Escapes.

Many of Richest Mines in the Porcupine Region Have Been Completely Wiped Out and Operating Forces Caught in Flames Fanned by Heated Winds Which Rush Through Acres of Timber.

Cobalt, Ont July 13.—With the death list already exceeding the 300 mark and property damage reaching into the millions, the fire in the Porcupine district of New Ontario is still unchecked, devastating miles of country. Many of the richest mines in the Porcupine region have been completely wiped out and their operating forces have met death in the flames which fanned by heated winds, are rushing like lightning through the thousands of acres of heavily-timbered lands that stretch northward and westward from Porcupine lake

It will be several days before the death list and property loss can be learned with any degree of accuracy, but indications today are that the holocaust is the greatest in the history of the Dominion.

Employed in the Dome mines were 300 workmen. When the fire reached the scene the entire property was surrounded so quickly that the only means of escape was down the shafts. The outside shaft was fully timbered and it caught fire after thirty foreigners took refuge within All lost their lives, their bodies now being piled on the first level, according to Manager Meek, who escaped. The fate of the others is in doubt.

At West Dome, all hands took refuge in the shafts and perished. Refugees from Preston East Dome who reached there after the fire passed, descended by means of chain ladders. Half way down to the first level they found the body of Mrs. Angus Burt. She had smothered to death clinging to the ladder. On the level below were found the bodies of Manager Weiss, his wife and daughter, his staff and those of twenty-seven foreigners. There are probably many other bodies as of the force of eighty-four in this property only three have since been heard from.

Miraculous Escapes.

Miraculous escapes are reported from many of the destroyed mining properties. At Preston East Dome, the men crawled down an untimbered shaft. They took water and food with them and by burrowing in the earth managed to live until the force of the flames had passed.

Other refugees took to the creeks and small lakes and lay in the water until the fire leaped over their heads.

Tom Geddes, pioneer of the Porcupine camp, lost his life by going back into the town to get clothing.

William Gohr was on the roof trying to save his place and lingered too long He perished with his clerk, Mac Smith Gohr's wife stood in the lake with the water up to her waist holding in her arms her infant child, waiting for her husband. She refused to move until he came. She was taken away when he was found dead

Captain Dunbar also perished trying to get clothes

Women and children, of South Porcupine were being hustled to safety to Golden City when a gang of foreigners made a rush for the boats moored at the wharf. They threw overboard other passengers. Joe Gardiner, a druggist with a revolver, made the foreigners wait till all the women and children were safe.

At Golden City, when the town was threatened many men refused to go the fires. Constable Piercy swore in a couple of special officers, closed all saloons, and with a revolver in each hand, forced the men on the streets to put out fires and it is alone saved the township.

Five Are Drowned.

George Green, who aided in getting the people across Porcupine lake, telling of his experiences, said the flames were coming so fast there was no time to make a raft so they broke open a boat house and seized a number of canoes. Using pieces of board as paddles they made for the shore which was jammed with refugees. The crowd started to rush the canoes, but the cooler heads prevented trouble and as many as possible were loaded in. A barber, William Strain, who could not get into the boat, demanded and was given permission to hold onto the rear of one of the canoes. The extra load was too much and the canoe capsized, five being drowned.

Harry Roche and three mining engineers beat their way back through the flames bringing out with them an unknown man, who was so badly burned that part of his hand dropped off when the doctor started to dress it.

At the United Porcupine, there was no shelter and the workers took refuge on an outcropping of rock. Several were roasted to death when the fire swept over them.

Manager Ashmore led the retreat of the Philadelphia nine force. C. E Adams, of Philadelphia, died of heart failure as the party fled. His body was incinerated.

Michigan Situation.

Detroit, July 13.—With three towns wiped out, four others partially destroyed, four bodies recovered from the devastated area and scores missing, the fire situation in Michigan today is still serious. Although the fires are not as fierce as yesterday, they have spread over a larger area and are threatening a number of towns in the Metz district, which was the scene of the holocaust in 1908.

Oscoda, Au Sable, and Millersburg are the only towns which have been completely wiped out. Tower has only a few houses left standing. The people of the latter village fought the fire for hours. The flames became so fierce that all women and children of the town were hurried to Onaway, only a short distance away. All household goods and heavy baggage was left behind, the horror at Metz three years ago being heeded and no one tried to carry heavy or unwieldy bundles.

One Town Saved.

At Onaway where a number of fire fugitives were quartered part of the village was attacked by the flames and burned to the ground, but a fierce all-night fight by the inhabitants managed to save the main portion of the town.

The town of Waters, at first reported wiped out, today was saved after an all-night fight by the Bay City and Gaylord fire departments which assisted the local fire fighters. One million dollars' damage, how-

SHARPSHOOTER RICHARDS' FEAT

Bloomdale Man Makes Record at Camp Perry.

SHOOTS WITH AID OF MOONLIGHT

Scores Ninety-Four Out of Possible 100 Points.

Captain Richards' Feat Is Pronounced by Military Experts To Be Unprecedented—Uses a Telescope Attachment, with Which Regulation Army Rifle Is Equipped, Doing Shooting Near Midnight.

Camp Perry, O., July 13.—A feat which military experts declare is without a precedent, was accomplished here by Captain W. H. Richards, a sharpshooter of Bloomdale, Ohio, who, between the hours of 11:30 o'clock and midnight, scored ninety-four out of a possible 100 points, finishing his string with twelve consecutive bulls'-eyes at a distance of 800 yards.

Captain Richards made the wonderful record with the aid of the moonlight and a telescope sight attachment, with which his regulation army rifle was equipped. The scoring was done by the light from lanterns.

"Captain Richards' feat only goes to show what could be done to an outpost or battery supposedly under the cover of darkness," say regular army officers in camp here.

The shoot was conducted under the supervision of Colonel L W. Howard, of Toledo, in command of the Sixth infantry, who is captain of the Ohio State team that will contest in the national shoot which will open on the Perry range August 14.

Highest Score.

The first shot was fired at 11:30 o'clock, and the last at midnight. The score made by Captain Richards is one of the highest yet made in daylight.

The unique performance was witnessed by Lieutenant C B. Chrisholm, of the engineer corps, Cleveland; Sergeant Mahot Easly, of the Sixth infantry; Lieutenant Ernest Miller, of Cincinnati, and Sergeant Collins, of the Second regiment.

"It was not a bit difficult as soon as I got accustomed to the moonlight," declared Captain Richards. "I have been experimenting with the telescope for two years."

Captain Richards is inspector of small arms practice of the Second infantry.

Cholera Spreads.

SCORE OF OLEO MEN INDICTED

Charged with Defrauding Government of Tax.

UNCLE SAM'S REVENUE MEN ALSO INVOLVED

Bribery Figures in the Grand Jury's Report.

Officers and Several Employes of Two of Largest Oleomargarine Factories in the United States Are Among Those Indicted—Jury Secrets Leak Out—Judge Will Probe the Matter at Once.

Chicago, July 13.—Indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the United States government of tax on oleomargarine, were returned by a special federal grand jury today, against three United States revenue officers and twenty-one officers and employes of two of the largest "oleo" factories in the United States.

Officers and employes of the "oleo" factory of Congressman William J. Moxley, of Illinois, are among those indicted.

The indicted revenue officials are Frank T. Cadiezel, government revenue agent; L. C. Larue, former deputy revenue collector and Harry Oldham, special employe in the revenue department.

These three government officials are charged with accepting numerous bribes from manufacturers to connive at the alleged conspirators to defraud the government.

Others Indicted.

The indicted men include:

John F. Jelke, president of John F. Jelke & Company; Francis M. Lowry, secretary; W. M. Steele. William P, Jackson, manager for the George P. Braun company and officers and employes of the firm of William J. Moxley & Company, as follows:

John Dadie, Thomas W. Dudman, Charles J. Johnson, Thomas English, Clarence M. Wolf, F. H Harding, J. F. Ryan, Michael Keene, A. B. Mize, William L. Lillard, Daniel Dorsey, J. B. Lundsay and L. B. Tullis.

All are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of a revenue tax of ten cents a pound on an immense quanity of colored oleomargarine.

The grand jury returned a special report notifying Federal Judge Landis, before whom the indictments were returned, that Harry Coyne, a revenue agent had in some way obtained a list of the persons indicted two weeks before the indictments were returned in open court and had shown the list. They asked that Coyne be punished for contempt of court.

Judge Landis immediately cited Coyne to appear later and explain his possesion of the grand jury secrets, intimating that severe punishment for contempt of court was sure to follow if he could learn the source of the leak.

BELLEFONTAINE LADS STEAL PRIVATE CAR

Take Joy Ride to Russells Point and Indian Lake Park.

Bellefontaine, O., July 13.—An Ohio Electric interurban car was stolen here Tuesday night by boys who took a joy ride to Russells point, and there abandoned the car while they toured the resorts about Indian Lake park.

The first car through yesterday narrowly avoided a collision with the abandoned conveyance which had been left on the main track.

The car was once the private coach of President Kesley Schoepf of the Ohio Electric system and has the high sounding name of "Mahketewah" painted upon the outside of it in gold letters. It has solid glass sides and is richly upholstered and equipped with large mirrors. It has been in use in the city service here.

The trip of the joy riders occasioned considerable excitement along the route. It was an unusual hour for a car to be out and the unprecedented speed maintained throughout the trip aroused the sleeping farmers along the route. Most of them saw only two boys aboard and all who got a glimpse of the joy riders say they were not over fourteen years. Whoever they were, they sent the car careening along at a dizzy pace.

The officers of the company say it is their first experience in having a car confiscated by joy riders and they have asked the police to make arrests.

It was reported that two youths had been arrested and fined here in juvenile court for the escapade, but this proved erroneous. The police have not yet solved the mystery of the boys' identity.

LUNCHEON AT 13 O'CLOCK ADVOCATED

South Bend Watch Maker Wants the Time Changed.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 13.—Luncheon at 13 o'clock, dinner at 18 and bedtime at about 22.30, is the plan of C. T. Higginbotham, a South Bend watch manufacturer, to replace the present system of three meridian times. In his address before the state jewelers' convention here today, Higginbotham advocated one meridian time for the United States and characterized the present system "all bosh." Under the one meridian time, the day would start at midnight or twenty-four o'clock, said the speaker.

Wireless electric watches would be kept in motion by a huge central electric clock station were also predicted soon by the speaker

THE ATTITUDE OF TEMPERANCE FORCES

Won't Try for State-Wide Prohibition, Says Wheeler.

Columbus, O., July 13.—Wayne B. Wheeler, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, states that the temperance forces of the state are not striving for state-wide prohibition and will make no efforts in that direction unless the liquor people try to get unrestricted license.

"The temperance people of the state thus far have not considered demanding state-wide prohibition," says Wheeler. "What they want is a convention composed of delegates who are fair. To be sure, if the liquor interests attempt to obtain unrestricted license, the opposition will be forced to the only alternative and will fight hard for state prohibition."

Dudley Improves.

Rio De Janeiro, July 13.—Irving B. Dudley, American ambassador to Brazil, who was taken ill yesterday with an attack of heart failure, is reported today to be slightly better.

GLASS-MAKING SECRETS GONE

Valuable Formulas Are Stolen at Martins Ferry.

THE HASKINS GLASS COMPANY THE LOSER

A Rival Concern May Know Something of Theft.

The Stolen Recipe Book Contains, Among Others, a Secret for Making "Lucida Glass," a New Product, the Constituents of Which the Haskins Company Has Been Guarding Very Carefully.

Martins Ferry, O., July 13.—Detectives are today exerting themselves to the utmost to recover a book of glass formulas, stolen last night from the Haskins Glass company, presumably by an agent for some rival company, and valued at more than $25,000.

This book contained among other formulas, a secret recipe for making "lucida glass," a new product, the constituents and manufacture of which the Haskins company has been guarding very carefully.

Whether the company itself owned the formula or was merely making use of it on a royalty basis, a member of the concern today declined to tell It is understood that the formula was not patented at Washington, because this would have revealed the process, and would consequently have opened the way for imitations

Lately, the plant of the Haskins company, which employs 350 men, has been closed for the midsummer inventory and overhauling, like other plants throughout the country. The foreman, Julius Kessmeier, was allowed to take the book of formulas home to study them

Last night, while he was away from home, a man appeared at the house and told Mrs Kessmeier that her husband had sent him for the book—that Kessmeier had orders to prepare to start the plant immediately and didn't have time to call for it himself.

The ruse succeeded and the man got the book and escaped with it. When Kessmeier returned home his wife asked him when the plant would start and explanations followed. Kessmeier, frantic, notified the officers of the company. Today he is aiding in the search for the thief.

DOCTOR WILEY FIGHTING MAD

Charges Made Against Uncle Sam's Food Expert.

HE ISN'T AFRAID OF LOSING PLACE

President Now Has the Papers in the Case.

The Relentless Prosecutor of Food Adulterators and Quacks Gets Angry When Asked About the Prospects of His Head Falling into the Basket—Secretary Wilson Doesn't Discuss Subject at Length.

Washington, July 13 —"I wouldn't advise any one to wait around my office to see me put out; there's no telling how long that will be."

This was the militant attitude assumed by Dr. Harvey W Wiley, the government's chief chemist, relentless prosecutor of food adulterators and quacks, today when asked as to the report that his official head was about to fall in the basket on account of alleged "irregularities" in administration.

The doctor was fighting mad over the latest reports of his decapitation. The charges against him, as formulated by the department of agriculture committee on personnel and approved by Attorney General Wickersham, are that, together with Dr. W. D. Bigelow, assistant chief of the bureau of chemistry, and L. F. Kebler, chief of the drug laboratory, he entered into a secret arrangement with Dr. H. H. Rusby, head of the New York College of Pharmacy, whereby Rusby was to receive a yearly salary of $1,600 for services rendered in perhaps eighty days.

The law provides that employes receiving yearly salaries must work exclusively for Uncle Sam.

Taft Gets Papers.

The department's committee on personnel recommended that Wiley and Bigelow be permitted to resign, that Rusby be discharged, and Kebler reduced from an executive place. This recommendation was concurred in by Attorney General Wickersham. The papers in the case are now before President Taft.

Secretary Wilson would only merely admit that "the matter has gone half way."

"It is now in the hands of the president," Wilson said. "Until he acts nothing further can be given out."

"All I know is that a copy of the charges was served on me about a week ago," said Dr. Wiley, "and I will make reply to them through the secretary to the president. Until the latter sees fit to make that statement public, I have nothing further to say in the matter."

Object of Attack.

Dr. Wiley has been the object of a relentless campaign of persecution by the interests which he has antagonized by his fearlessness in administering the national pure food and drug law. Great pressure has been exerted a number of times to secure his removal.

Wiley's enemies scored a partial victory when President Roosevelt appointed the so-called referee board, a sort of court of appeal for those who were aggrieved at the chief chemists' decisions At the time this board overruled him on the benzoate of soda controversy, there was a persistent report that he would be discharged for "too much zeal." The board now has no legal status.

Wiley's decree in the flour bleaching cases and his campaign against the patent medicine quacks marked him for bitter denunciation by the interests involved

Overruled by Taft.

Wiley's decision that no whisky except that made according to the Kentucky process could legally be labeled as "whisky" aroused a storm of protest from distillers in the Middle West. President Taft came to the aid of the "blenders" by overruling Wiley and holding that many liquors, manufactured in the ordinary process of distillation from grain, were legally whisky

The doctor is one of the most picturesque figures in public life here. He expects to live to be over 100; he is an equal suffragist and was recently married to Miss Nan Kelton, a leader in the woman's suffrage movement, and is one of the charter members of the Non-Smokers' league.

Wiley stands six feet, four, in height and weighs 225. He was born in Indiana about sixty-six years ago, and has been in the government service twenty-eight years.

Hobble Shoes Now.

Boston, July 13.—Hobble and harem skirts have been supplanted by hobble and harem shoes, some of which are on exhibition at the big shoe and leather meeting here. The harem shoe is high with open face sides. The hobble is merely a heavy walking shoe.

LAWSON HOLDS BRUIN AT BAY WITH FISH

Boston Financier Has Trying Experience with a Big Bear.

Seattle, Wash., July 13.—Thomas W. Lawson, Boston financier and author of "Frenzied Finance," is congratulating himself today that a "frenzied" experience he had with a black bear did not turn out more seriously

Lawson has been enjoying a vacation on the ranch of Thomas Sharp near Princerville, Oregon. Last Saturday, he went fishing and when he failed to reappear on time, Sharp went out to search for him.

Three miles away he found Lawson on the very end of a log over Matwawai creek. A huge black bear was standing at the shore end of the log devouring fish which the financier threw to it.

After Bruin had been chased away and Lawson set free, he declared he had been kept prisoner in that manner for three hours.

GIVE US ICE, CRY CHILDREN

Ice Riots Break Out in New York City.

MAYOR GAYNOR STARTS PROBE

Scarcity of Ice Stirs Him and Others to Action.

Men, Women and Children Storm Office of Big Ice Company, Yelling "Give Us Ice, We'll Smash the Windows," and Managers Are Compelled To Heed Demands. Heat Again Grasps Metropolis.

New York, July 13.—Scarcity of ice, which menaced the city, yesterday moved Mayor Gaynor, Police Commissioner Welch and District Attorney Whitman to take official cognizance, and an investigation of the causes of the present shortage is now under way.

Ice riots broke out on the East side among the poor. Prices have risen from 200 to 300 per cent. in the course of the hot spell, and the increased demand has been so heavy that the Knickerbocker Ice company refuses to sell to any but its own retailers. The independent dealers sell, but only at advanced rates

One hundred men and women stormed the office of the Foster-Scott Company yesterday afternoon yelling "Ice! Give us ice!" Many had sick children, dying for lack of ice

"Smash the windows," yelled the crowd.

Buckets of water from the windows greeted the leaders, but the crowd grew angrier and the manager decided to quiet it by distributing tickets which could be exchanged for ice at the company's pier.

The District Attorney said that a delegation of dealers, who can not get ice from the Knickerbocker, had asked to wait on him

The death roll Wednesday of a score and a half and nearly a hundred prostrations almost equaled the casualties of Tuesday, although the temperature averaged ten degrees less. The high humidity, which was sixty-five per cent. during the heat of the day. Increased the strain, while the stifling heat of the night before, the worst of the present hot wave, sapped many a weakened constitution and sent the count of the dead to high figures.

The maximum temperature for the day recorded at top of the White Hall building, was only eighty-six degrees, which was attained at fifty minutes after 11 o'clock, while the reading of the theremometers on the street at 11 o'clock was ninety-five degrees.

EX-CONVICT IS ART CRITIC ONLY

Mrs. Hollingsworth Makes the Statement.

ARTIST DISCUSSES STOLEN PORTRAITS

She Resents Insinuations as to Incompetency.

State Library Employe Declares She Painted the Four Stolen Pictures of Former Governors Kirker, Shannon, Lucas and Corwin, Adding That She Has Studied Abroad and in Boston.

Columbus, O., July 13.—Mrs. E. J. Hollingsworth, the state library employe who drew $1,000 from the state treasury for oil paintings of Former Governors Kirker, Shannon, Lucas and Corwin, said today that Henry Weidenbach, the ex-convict artist, had only assisted her in the work in his role of art critic.

"I can prove by any number of persons at the Young Women's Christian association, where I live, that I painted the four portraits," said Mrs. Hollingsworth. "Mr. Weidenbach frequently looked over my work and offered suggestions, but that was because he had been designated as critic and the state officials were going to follow his advice about accepting or rejecting the painting.

"Weidenbach did not receive a cent of the $1,000. The money is still on deposit, in a local bank."

Mrs. Hollingsworth appeared to resent the insinuations that she is not competent to produce the portraits of the four governors that now adorn the statehouse rotunda.

State Seeks Weidenbach.

"I taught painting and drawing for fifteen years in Dayton," she said, "and I have studied painting under some of the best masters in this country and Paris. I spent three years in the Cincinnati Art school, studied in Paris a while and have taken special courses in the Harvard and Columbia universities art departments.

"The photographs I painted from were some that had been made from the portraits of the governors which had been in the statehouse many years.

"Some people are saying that I did not compile the 'Art Guide.' I spent seven months on it. Weidenbach's only contribution was to place a valuation on the different pictures."

The governor's office has not yet got in touch with Weidenbach, who is supposed to be in Albany, New York.

DETECTIVE BURNS TO ANSWER CHARGES

Will Appear in Indianapolis, Saturday, Says His Son.

Chicago, July 13.—Detective William J. Burns probably will appear in Indianapolis, Saturday, to answer to the indictment charging him with the kidnaping of John J McNamara.

According to Raymond Burns, his son, in charge of the Burns National Detective agency here, Burns will land in New York either this afternoon or tomorrow morning on a steamer from England, where, it has been rumored, he brought about the arrest of David Kaplan, one of the alleged dynamiters of the Los Angeles Times. Young Burns refused, today, to tell what had been his father's mission in Europe.

"My father probably will be in Indianapolis Saturday for arraignment," he said, "but I am sure that if he should be delayed a few days by his boat, the court would accept that as a reasonable excuse and delay his arraignment. However, we expect it will not be necessary to ask delay."

ever, was done to the lumber supply and mills of the town.

The village of LeGrand, which is near the district burned in 1908, is reported hemmed in by flames and the inhabitants fighting desperately to save their homes. Grave fears are felt for their safety.

Conditions on the whole appear more favorable each hour today. The cyclonic wind which fanned the flames into such a fury yesterday has died down and the loss of life, while yet hard to determine, is not thought will reach over twenty-five.

Hundreds Homeless.

Grayling, Mich, July 13.—Several hundred more people are homeless today as the result of the complete wiping out of the village of Waters, eighteen miles from here, last night. This brings the total of homeless in the burning of three towns, Oscoda, Au Sable and Waters, up to 3,000. The whole northeastern section of Michigan today is a desolate, blackened mass, with only here and there a house left to mark what was only a few days ago a prosperous village or farm.

Of the pile of rough pine boxes sent to Au Sable and Oscoda last night for those who were supposed to have perished, only three have been used, but scores of inhabitants are still missing and no accurate estimate can be made of the fatalities which occurred in the burning of the twin villages.

The fire, early today, had burned itself out about the two ruined towns and unless a strong wind springs up today the worst is believed to be over. Only two houses in Oscoda and none in Au Sable remain.

It was stated, today, from numerous points where the fires were raging fiercest yesterday, that the forest fire situation on the whole was distinctly better in northern Michigan.

However, the danger is not yet over as, according to State Fire Warden Oates, fires are reported in twenty-one counties today and, while a number of these are not dangerous at present, it will only take a high wind in the right direction to fan them into one of the worst conflagrations the state of Michigan or the country has ever known. All the threatened counties are bunched at the extreme northern end of the lower peninsula.

ACTION DISMISSED IN JUSTICE'S COURT

The Matter of Joseph W. Harris Against City of Marion.

A suit against the City of Marion for $50 damages and a suit in replevin to recover a part of a keg of beer secured by Joseph W. Harris were dismissed in the court of Justice Charles H. Conley, Thursday. Harris failed to put in an appearance.

City Solicitor Elmer T. Boyd appeared before the justice and was prepared to argue a motion that the proceedings be dismissed. He selected several sections of the general code and presented them to the court. Section 6181 provides that liquors seized and the vessels containing them shall not be taken from the custody of the officer by writ of replevin or other process while the proceedings are pending.

The section expressly provides that final judgment of conviction in such proceedings, under the search-and-seizure law, in all cases is a bar to all suits for the recovery of the liquors seized, or their value, or for damages alleged to arise by seizure and detention of the same.

Harris will be arraigned before Mayor John G. Seiter on a charge of bootlegging.

PASSING OF VETERAN PHYSICIAN OF COUNTY

Dr. Daniel Free Practices at Green Camp Many Years.

PROMINENT IN THE AFFAIRS OF VILLAGE

Arrangements Made for the Funeral Services—A Brief Review of the History of Career of One of the Leading Physicians and Surgeons of the County.

Dr. Daniel Free, who died at his home in Green Camp, Wednesday afternoon about 3 o'clock, as mentioned in the Star, Wednesday, was one of the oldest and most prominent physicians in Marion county. He had been engaged in the practice of his profession for the past forty-five years and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Dr. Free was born in Pleasant township, July 31, 1832, and was a son of the late Michael and Catherine Free. His parents came to this county from Pennsylvania in 1826 and reared a family of twelve children, one of whom, Wesley Free, of Clarence, Missouri, is still living.

His Boyhood Days.

The boyhood of Dr. Free was spent on his father's farm and his education was obtained in the district schools. When eighteen years of age he began teaching school. While teaching he prepared for a course in a medical college and shortly after closing his last school he entered the Cincinnati Eclectic Medical institute. After one term of lectures there he went to Van Wert county and resided there for a short time, but after his marriage immediately moved to Williams county where he practiced his profession from 1858, until 1865, when he came to Green Camp. In point of continuous practice, Dr. Free was the oldest physician in this county. His long residence made him known to almost every one, and with all the older families of that section of the county he has been associated in the intimate relation of family physician. He had always kept abreast of the times in the advances made in his profession, combining old methods with the use of modern appliances and held a place equal to the young physicians of the county. He was a member of the Ohio Central Eclectic Medical society.

Date of Marriage.

April 11, 1858, Dr. Free was united in marriage to Mary A. Thomas, at Willshire. To this union six children were born, one son, Daniel Gilbert Free, of Cleveland, surviving. The deceased leaves beside his widow and son, a number of relatives.

Dr. Free was a member of the Green Camp Free Baptist church and had been identified with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows since 1860.

The funeral will be held at the Baptist church, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. H. H. Hoyt, the pastor, officiating. The services will be in charge of Green Camp Lodge, No. 644, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The remains will be laid at rest in the Green Camp cemetery.

THE MARION NATIONAL MILL MUCH IMPROVED

Much Money and Labor Given to the Changes.

NEW MACHINERY IS INSTALLED IN PLANT

Every Convenience for Making the Best and Most Uniform Quality of Flour Is Now at Hand in the Mill. A Review of Some of the Numerous Changes Made.

After a laborious effort requiring several months and necessitating the expenditure of nearly $5,000, the plant of the Marion National mill at the corner of north Prospect and Mill streets has been completely overhauled and placed in such a condition as to make it one of the best in central Ohio. The improvements have been in progress for some time and now are practically completed.

New and expensive machinery found only in the most up-to-date mills has been installed in the plant and much of the apparatus in the old plant has been abandoned. No effort has been spared to make every department such as to afford every convenience in the handling of the grain and the making of the best flour with the greatest convenience.

The accessibility of the plant will be appreciated by the farmers. Formerly, owing to the high grade about the entrance, it was with considerable difficulty that the farmers got their grain into the building. Now, the grade has been lowered and the whole plant is on a level making it very advantageous.

All new milling equipment has been installed at the plant to reduce the wheat by gradual process to flour, making it of the best and most uniform quality. The visitor at the plant is impressed especially with the great effort made in the cleaning of the grain, every particle being scoured and placed in the most cleanly condition.

By means of a conveyor the grain is transferred from the bins to the cleaner and then to the milling bin so that the wheat is thoroughly blended, there being an even run of wheat from all that is stored in the elevators. An overhead dump also affords great convenience. An arrangement makes the handling of grain from the mill into the cars to be shipped away, exceedingly handy.

One of the new features of the plant is a cozy little room in a new addition to the building to be used as a labratory. Here tests will be made of the flour and there will also be fixtures for baking and experimental work. In the new addition proper, new room is added for storage purposes. This latter feature is of great help as heretofore the plant was considerably handicapped on account of the lack of storing space.

Under the new arrangement, the plant has a capacity of 1,100 bushels a day. About 250 barrels of flour are turned out. An elevator capacity of 2,500 bushels is had where the capacity formerly was only about 1,500 bushels. The warehouse capacity is about 100 tons of feed and 1,000 barrels of flour.

The mill is under the management of John W. Jones, one of the most capable millers of the state and to his efforts largely is the fine condition of the plant due.

THE RISING TIDE.

Every American who takes even a languid interest in the political history of his time must be impressed by the remarkable rebound in the political fortunes of the President from their low level of a year ago.

We quote from three publications, all of which were bitterly opposed to the president only a few months ago, and only one of which can be numbered among his friends today.

Collier's Weekly, which remarked a week or so ago that Mr. Taft would make a very good president if he would only include Mr. Brandeis among the members of his cabinet, comments this week as follows on the prospects of Mr. Taft's only rival for the Republican nomination in 1912:

"It is no secret that during the past few months the friends and followers of Senator LaFollette in various sparts of the country have been hoping that a movement would crystallize to run LaFollette against Taft for the Republican presidential nomination. It is equally no secret that this movement has not incubated as rapidly as was hoped for. Indeed, it has rather lost momentum."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, a progressive newspaper, remarks under the head, "Taft as the Progressive Leader:"

"The president now stands as the avowed choice of many leading progressive Republicans for the nomination in 1912. . . . Many who were most antagonistic to the presidential policies of 1910 are now rallying to the support of the president, hailing him as the progressive leader. . . . If the progressives control the next Republican national convention; it is by no means unlikely that they will recognize Taft rather than LaFollette as the logical progressive leader in the Republican party."

Even the Cincinnati Post—which may it choke as the bitterest and most unfair of the president's critics' remarks.

The star of President Taft is much higher than it was in the summer of 1910. His renomination no longer seems improbable; his re-election, though unlikely, is by no means so remote a possibility as it seemed a year ago."

A few of the president's friends fear and some of his enemies hope that the tide has turned too late. But it is still more than a year before the nomination and nearly a year and a half before the election! It is a poor compliment to the quickness of wit of the American people to say that eighteen months isn't long enough to allow them to recognize a good president, particularly after their eyes have begun to be opened to the kind of a man they have in the White House.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

FORMER MARION MAN DIES IN THE QUEEN CITY

John F. Irey Passes Away After a Long Illness.

IS WIDELY KNOWN IN THE CITY AND COUNTY

Mr. Irey Passes Nearly All of His Life in This City—Dies at the Home of His Only Son—Leaves Brothers and Sisters Residing in Various Parts of the Country.

John F. Irey, seventy-two years old, a veteran of the civil war, died from the infirmities of age and complications at the home of his only son, Fred Irey, in Elwood Place, a suburb of Cincinnati, Friday morning at 3 o'clock. The remains were brought to this city for burial.

Mr. Irey was born and raised in this city and was widely known. He was a son of Enos and Mary Irey, pioneer residents.

Following his wife's death four years ago, Mr. Irey, who had been a night watchman for a number of years, went to the country and lived on the farm of his brother, Israel Irey, of this city. Last fall, he left Marion and went to Columbus and later to Cincinnati. The deceased is survived by his son and the following brothers and sisters:

William Irey, of Enid, Oklahoma; C. H. Irey, of Shelby; Joseph Irey, of Wyoming; Mrs. Elizabeth Stoneberger, of Kansas, and Mrs. Jacob L. Smith and Israel Irey, of Marion.

The funeral services were held at the home of Frank Morgenthaler, of north Seffner avenue, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, followed by interment in the Marion cemetery. Mr. Morgenthaler's deceased wife was a daughter of Mr. Irey.

Sons of Butchers.

Three of the stained glass windows in the hall of the Butcher Guild, London, contain the portraits of Cardinal Wolsey, William Shakespeare and Daniel Defoe in recognition of their connection with the meat trade.

The cardinal was the son of a "respectable" butcher at Ipswich, in Suffolk, and "the immortal bard" assisted while a youngster a butcher in his native town of Stratford-on-Avon.

Defoe, nowadays known as the author of "Robinson Crusoe," but in his day an adventurer and secret agent of his government, was the son of a butcher in Fore street and a member of the guild.—National Provisioner.

PAUL LAWRENCE THE VICTIM OF STABBING

Is Cut Three Times in the Back by John Ralston.

A BICYCLE PUMP IS CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

The Cutting Is Done During a Fight in the Barnyard at the Lawrence Home Friday Evening—No Prosecution Will Follow—Lawrence Is Not Dangerous Injured.

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lawrence, on the Caledonia pike just east of the city, was the scene of a cutting affray, about 6 o'clock Friday evening, when Paul Lawrence, the nineteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, was stabbed three times in the back by John Ralston, aged twenty-six years, a tenant on the Lawrence farm and a former resident of the hill country in the southern part of the state.

It appears that the trouble which culminated in the stabbing was started in the morning over a dispute as to a bicycle pump. Some heated words were indulged, and the parties to the trouble separated. They met at the barn at the conclusion of the day's labor and for a few minutes the men were alone in the barnyard, while others employed about the place were looking after duties in the barn.

Story of Cutting.

Ralston is much larger and stronger than Lawrence, but in the fight which followed it appears resorted to the use of a knife. After a brief scuffle and holds were broken, Lawrence becoming weakened without knowing the reason. He left Ralston and went to the house where he discovered that he had been stabbed. Two of the wounds he suffered are minor in importance, but one is quite serious. The knife used by Ralston is of the large pocket type and was very sharp.

Dr. James A. McMurray was called and gave the young man the necessary surgical attention. He found that the victim will recover quickly, unless something unexpected should develop.

No Prosecution.

Immediately after the cutting, the father of the injured young man told Ralston to go home. The Lawrences state that Ralston was very abusive, but left the scene without further trouble.

The mother of the young man stated, that no steps to prosecute Ralston had been taken and it is quite likely that there will be no such action, the injured young man and his parents prefering to let the matter drop with as little trouble as possible.

Ralston is married and has children. He moved to the Lawrence farm several months ago.

MRS. SARAH STITZEL DIES IN A HOSPITAL

Death Follows an Operation of One Week Ago.

Mrs. Sarah A. Stitzel, widow of the late James E. Stitzel, died at the Grant hospital in Columbus, Friday morning at 6 o'clock, following an operation performed last week. Her sister, Mrs. John Turner was at her bedside when death came.

Mrs. Stitzel was about sixty years of age and is survived by one son, Edward Stitzel, of Cleveland. She is quite well known in Marion and for the past number of years has been employed in the altering department of the Warner & Edwards company. Her death will come as a shock to her many friends.

The remains were brought to this city for burial.

Settlement Made.

Infirmary Director C. B. Freeman and Infirmary Superindendent Samuel Bader were at Gallipolis, Friday, settling up with the infirmary directors of that county for the burial expenses of Otto Steward, who died at the local infirmary as a result of scratching his hand on a harrow tooth.

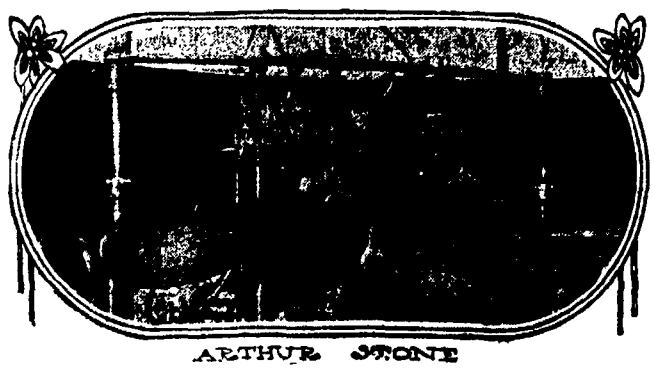
MOST EXPENSIVE MONOPLANE WRECKED



ARTHUR STONE

Willis McCormick's double engine, double propeller monoplane, which he had originally designed for the race for the Coupe Internationale d'Aviation, came to grief at the Nassau Aerodrome, on Long Island, the second time it had ever been taken out of its hangar.

With Arthur Stone as the driver it rose to a height of about fifty feet, when a gust struck it and dashed it to the earth, breaking the front propeller and the front part of the wings and giving Mr. Stone a bad cut on the head.

The Central Christian church property, located on west Church street, was sold to David Evans for $6,200 at sheriff's sale Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. P. Kelly bid the property in for Mr. Evans, whose family is heavily interested in the mortgage indebtedness of the property. The bidding was quite spirited for a short time, several lawyers representing the Goodnow estate being present.

The church property was appraised $9,000. The mortgage indebtedness amounts to about $10,000.

J. Austin Reed was the auctioneer.

The Property Sold.

Charles Hofstetter bought the old Henry Cope property, on east Church street, at administrator's sale, Saturday, paying $2,000 for it. BUSINESS SESSION IN PROGRESS SATURDAY

Endowment Committee Meeting at Hotel Marion.

SEEKING TO SECURE SUM OF $200,000

All the Members of the Ohio Northern University's $200,000-Endowment-Fund Committee Were in Attendance—Various Plans for Raising the Money Are Discussed.

The Ohio Northern university's $200,000-endowment committee held its first business session in the main parlor of Hotel Marion, last Saturday. All members of the committee were present. They are Judge Wanamaker, of Akron; W. W. Edwards, of Leipsic; L. A. Bowman, of St. Mary's and Dr. David H. Bailey and Fred E. Guthery, of this city.

At 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when a Star reporter appeared at the session, Dr. Albert Edwin Smith, president of the educational institution at Ada, declared that nothing had yet been done for publication.

Various plans were discussed by the committee for raising the endownment of $200,000.

One plan discussed favorably was that adopted by the Ohio Wesleyan university, in Delaware. This plan is to make an educational campaign for funds in every county of Ohio and some counties outside the state, particularly in the Pittsburg district, where a great deal of financial encouragement has been given in the past.

Members of the committee are sure that the amount of the proposed endowment will be raised because of the great work the university is accomplishing under the guiding hand of the president, Dr. Smith.

CHANGING TRAFFIC.

The canal project to connect the St. Lawrence river with Lake Champlain and thus gain an inland water connection with the lower Hudson river has been revived in Canada. A well financed company has taken up the plans and asked a number of concessions from the parliament at Ottawa. By means of this connection, the commercial products of Quebec and Montreal could be exchanged with those of New York at a minimum cost of transportation.

Long before there existed any practical chance for the reciprocity treaty, it was realized that the trend of traffic would some day shift. In the United States and Canada both, movement of freight has been east and west. The course of commerce was paralleled by the course of settlement and industrial development. The South in the United States, for many years, suffered from neglect. Capital looked westward. It could not see the opportunities below Mason and Dixon's line. Something of the same sort took place in the Dominion. A rich hinterland was surrendered to the lumber men and the fur traders.

The turn is at hand. The American South is coming into its own. The frontier of civilization is stretching farther and farther into the Canadian wilderness. By the time this new international waterway, running almost north and south, is opened, the direction of development may be wholly altered. —Toledo Blade.

AN OPEN SAFETY PIN IS SWALLOWED BY A CHILD

Little One Suffers Eight Months with Pin in Throat.

UNUSUAL EXPERIENCE OF LITTLE HARKER THOMAS

Child Swallows Pin While Mother Is Spanking Him—Seized by a Fit of Coughing He Dislodges and Expels Pin at Home Near Meeker—Is Not in a Serious Condition.

Meeker, O., July 7.—[Special.]—An open nickel safety pin which lodged in the throat of Harker, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thomas, when his mother was spanking him eight months ago, was coughed up by the child at the supper table, last Saturday.

The child either swallowed the open pin during the excitement of the spanking or it flew down his throat and became fast in the glands. At the time the parents did not know that the boy had anything in his mouth. All he ever said was that he didn't want his mama to have any pins in her dress when she spanked him again. Shortly after the spanking incident the glands of the throat became swollen and the boy complained considerably about his throat hurting him when he swallowed. He was taken to several physicians, who said that he was suffering from an affection of the throat that was not of a serious nature.

When the child had about finished his supper, last Saturday, he was seized by a paroxysm of coughing. His parents thought he would choke to death before Dr. C. S. Burnside could arrive. Before the physician came, however, the safety-pin, which had lodged in his throat months before, was coughed up.

The child is not in a serious condition.

To reduce the great number of drownings which occur annually, a Columbus paper urges all persons to learn to swim. The trouble is that people are prone to assume that they are swimmers when they are not. They come just about as near being swimmers as the average piano player comes to being a musician. As a matter of fact it's among the alleged swimmers that most of the drownings occur. The fellows who don't know how to swim and know that they do not seldom figure in stories of drownings.

It will take a Solomon to decide whether England or America is entitled to the honors in the Oxford-Cambridge-Yale-Harvard contests over in England Tuesday. Five of the nine events went to the English colleges, but one of the five English college victors was an American. You pay your money and take your choice.

If John Sharp Williams perseveres in reminding his fellow-senators, who are expressing their views, of occasions when they expresed views to the contrary, he is bound to become something of a thorn in the side of the senate.

Members of the senate appear to labor under the delusion that this country's greatest need is a flow of third-class oratory.

By this time, possibly, Mr. Pinchot has made the discovery that former Secretary Ballinger, also, is something of a harpoonist, when he gets down to business.

Mr. Guggenheim asserts that he doesn't own a dollar's worth of land in Alaska. Can it be another case of "Give a dog a bad name?"

There is one thing to be said for the theory of the Columbus psychologist that the hot spell was the result of a revolt upon the part of nature against the mental unrest of the people—it's as good as many others we have come upon of late.

The British designers have decided that the big Dreadnaughts of twenty to twenty-two knots are too slow, and now propose smaller vessels of from thirty to thirty-five knots armed with big guns. We are gradually growing to the view that the fashions in battleships are much like those in wearing apparel for the women folks—anything to be different.

We have noticed that the fellow who advocates wool all the way through for warm weather usually wears a cotton shirt open at the neck and showing thin balbriggan underwear.

Ever since one of our farmer friends told us that three hours of rain a day for the next fifty days wouldn't be any more than the crops needed, we have suspected him of having a corner on an ark.

The docking of the salary of Governor Wilson for three days which he spent in "gallivanting" is warmly commended by the Ohio State Journal which calls attention to the fact that Woodrow was not taking a needed rest, but was "just running about the country enjoying himself." Now this is hardly fair. Mr. Wilson was out doing missionary work for the various fads the State Journal holds most dear. He was not enjoying himself, for he was making speeches in which he was reversing the convictions of a lifetime as expressed in his writings and teachings before he was bitten by the political bug. It was all right to cut off his salary in order to pay his substitute, but we conceive of occasions when the absence of a governor would be more valuable to the state than his presence.

Harry Atwood, the newest aeroplane hero, has only been "flying" about a month, it is said. We notice that the spectacular stunts are always done by the novice. The man who lives and continues at the business grows cautious with a knowledge of the dangers of foolhardiness.

It is claimed that snake skin shoes are fashionable in England. Now if only rat skin shoes become really stylish in America, one great pest will be on the way to extinction. But the rat will not disappear until he is hunted for his fur or pelt. The Japanese realized this and the government some years ago offered a small but sufficient bounty upon each pelt produced. These were tanned and when the war with Russia came every soldier of Nippon had a warm and comfortable cap and gloves made from this fur.

It is now alleged that one blast upon Castro's bugle horn was worth a thousand men. There are probably more men than that in South America, who would follow this small fireband or any other, who could give them promise of loot and excitement and who are not concerned especially with any questions of government.

THRILLING ACCOUNT OF MICHIGAN FIRES

Dr. Z. B. Houghton Talks of Losses Suffered.

RELIEF IS HURRIED TO THE FIRE SUFFERERS

Story of the Destruction of Two Michigan Towns Within a Few Miles of Cottage Where Marion Party Is Stopping—People Pass Night of the Fire in Lake Huron.

A thrilling account of the great Michigan forest fires which wiped out a number of towns was told by Dr Z B Houghton, who, with his wife and son, Jack, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A Curtis and their two children, Glenn and Sarah, arrived home from Pine Lake, Michigan.

"We were located on Pine lake at the cottage of Mr and Mrs. L. Arens, who are still there with their baby," declared Dr. Houghton. "The Arens cottage is just three miles from Oscoda, which was wiped clear off the map. The home of the Pine Lake Outing club, the members of which are Marion people, is up the lake from the Arens cottage about four miles. None of the property around there was damaged.

Food Supply Short.

"We came home because the food supply was cut short and we thought we'd better get out. The fire started in a woods west of the depot half a mile west of Oscoda. With the wind blowing from the west, the fire came to Oscoda, missed the depot and cut a corner of the town. Then the wind shifted to the north and the fire was swept back over the town and communicated with the mammoth Loud lumber piles along the Au Sable river which empties into Lake Huron, leaped the river and set the town of Au Sable afire. The river between the two towns is about twenty feet wide and millions of feet of lumber lined both sides of the river clear to the lake. This was all destroyed. The only buildings left in Oscoda, outside of the depot, was a schoolhouse and four dwellings near it and seven shacks in the outskirts. Au Sable was wiped entirely off the map."

Pictures Are Taken.

Dr. Houghton had a kodak and took a number of what he called poverty pictures. These he turned over to a Detroit newspaper reporter, who had motored into the town. Dr. Houghton continued:

"The night of the terrible fire, people of Oscoda and Au Sable, together with their children, rushed to Lake Huron and waded into the water up to their necks. There they remained all night, frequently ducking their heads into the water to get relief from the piercing heat and choking smoke.

No Money Wanted.

"I saw one man in the streets of Oscoda carrying several loaves of bread under one arm and a ham under another. He wore a Masonic pin. I asked him if he needed money. 'My friend, what would I do with money,' he said. 'I've got all the money I want.' Afterwards I learned that he was worth $40,000. I didn't see any bodies, but they told at Oscoda that three bodies were picked up from the streets in Oscoda and three more bodies were found in the streets of Au Sable.

"Wednesday morning at 2 o'clock, a train loaded with provisions came into Oscoda. It carried 1,000 loaves of bread and twenty-one barrels of ham. This train was followed a short time later by another train with two box-car loads of bread, fifty barrels of ham, 500 tents and 1,000 packages of chewing and smoking tobacco."

RAFFENSPERGER IS SCORCHED BY FIRE

Suffers Heavily by Burning of Two Cottages.

With his face and head scorched and his arms burned, Henry Raffensperger arrived home, Thursday, from Rosedale a suburb of Bay View, Michigan, where the cottages of Frederick Haberman and Dr. L. D. Hamilton were destroyed by fire, Tuesday afternoon. Young Raffensperger, who went there to open the Haberman cottage, at the time the fire broke out was at the lake. Just as soon as he learned the cottage was afire, he ran back to it and rushed into the flaming building to save his clothing and a pocketbook containing considerable money. He was overcome by the heat.

"When I came to I was in a doctor's office at Petoskey," Raffensperger said Thursday. "I had to come home looking like a tramp. I not only lost my pocketbook and return ticket home, but I lost a good rifle, a camera and a number of other things. I suppose my loss will come pretty close to $200. The Habermans lost everything and all that was saved from the Hamilton cottage was the clothing."

Columbus, O., July 13.—The Texas company, an oil concern, of which John W. Gates is a director, yesterday sent the secretary of state a notice of an increase in its capital stock from $36,000,000 to $50,000,000. Secretary Graves, however, refused to accept the filing on the grounds that the company's report showed that, not long ago, it had increased from $18,000,000 to $36,000,000 and had not notified the secretary of state.

DISSOLUTION OF THE SANATORIUM COMPANY

Action Is Taken on Motion of Master Commissioner.

NOTES GATHERED IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Court Modifies an Order in the Alimony Suit of Cornelia McCombs Against Joseph McCombs—The Defendant May Now Use Part of His Wages—Remainder for Wife.

On motion of Master Commissioner W. N. Harder, Judge Babst, Tuesday afternoon, dissolved the Ohio Sanatorium company. Dr. Carl W. Sawyer and others brought an action in the common pleas court several months ago to dissolve the corporation. Attorney Harder was appointed master commissioner. He made an exhaustive examination and reported that the company was not a paying concern, virtually recommending that it be dissolved as prayed for in the petition.

Dr. C. E. Sawyer, the receiver, is ordered to make his report as directed in a former order of the court.

In the alimony suit of Cornelia McCombs against Joseph McCombs, Judge Babst, Tuesday afternoon, modified a former order and allowed McCombs to draw $20 of his monthly salary from the Marion Steam Shovel company and turn over the remainder to County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter for the support of his aged wife. On the witness stand, McCombs swore he earned on an average of $30 to $40 a month and that he did not work steadily on account of sickness.

The Home Building, Savings & Loan company against Clark Dix, Martha R. Dix, Edward S. Moon, Charles E. Gompf and Charles L. Justice, as receiver of the Marion Manufacturing company is the title of a foreclosure proceeding filed by Attorneys Copeland & Bartram in the court of common pleas, Thursday morning.

The plaintiff sets up that in 1906 the defendants, Clark and Martha R. Dix, made and executed to it their certain promissory note for $800, which was secured by a mortgage on lot No. 4424, located on Wilson avenue in Clark Dix's addition to the city. The defendants, Edward S. Moon, Charles E. Gompf and Charles L. Justice are alleged to claim some interest in the property and the court is asked to compel them to set up their interest, if any.

In the suit of May R. Flickinger and Susan P. Hodder against Mary R. Flickinger and Susan P. Hodder, executrices of the last will and testament of their father, Davidson McWilliams, deceased, and others, the defendants, May R. Flickinger and Susan P. Hodder, as executors, have filed in the common pleas court their answer to the petition. They say that all of the allegations are true, but say further that they require the instruction of the court in the premises in the performance of their duties and the interpretation of the will. The court is asked to construe the will and to give them as executrices complete instructions accordingly.

What to do with the great quantities of whisky and beer brought into his office as a result of prosecution of Rose local-option law violators has become one of the puzzling problems of County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter.

All the vaults and ante rooms are filled with exhibits of booze and beer. Some of it is in glass jars, some of it in jugs, but the most of it is in bottles.

"I don't know what I am going to do if they bring much more of it up here," said the county clerk Thursday. "I've got enough whisky to start a distillery and I've got enough beer to make a brewery look like a very small affair along side of it."

Thursday, the transcript of the case of the State of Ohio against William Armstrong was filed and along with it several sacks of bottled beer and a dozen quarts of whisky were brought up as exhibits in the case. Armstrong was fined $100 and costs by Mayor John G. Seiter.

A transcript from the civil docket of Justice Charles E. Gompf in the suit of Walter Herron against Frank Thomas has been filed in the common pleas court. This is a suit for five dollars, with interest from June 19, 1911. The defendant has appealed his case to the common pleas court.

ANGRY PAINTERS TALK TO THE COMMISSIONERS

Employed by County in Painting Bridges.

COMPLAIN THAT PAINT CONTAINS SOME ACID

The Paint Burns the Flesh of the Men Who Use It and Two Are Confined to Their Beds by the Burns They Receive—The Company Selling It Is Notified.

A gang of angry painters appeared before the county commissioners, Wednesday afternoon, and protested against working on the county bridges with the paint bought by the commissioners from the Ohio Chemical company at Dayton.

Dorsey Boxwell said that the paint had some kind of acid in it that "set the men on fire." He declared:

"I'd just as leave be in the hot place. Why, if I'd been in the center of a burning bush my flesh couldn't have burned more terribly." Lewis Allmendinger corroborated his statement.

"Gentlemen, it was awful," he said. "I was unable to sleep a wink for two nights. The paint is supposed to contain graphite, but it hasn't a grain in it. You commissioners simply got stung."

Robert Boxwell told a story of his horrible suffering as a result of working with the paint, which, he declared contained a poison of some kind that "burnt up the hide." He said that two painters, whose names were Gillespie and Petty, were still confined to their beds.

The commissioners told them not to use any more of the paint. Clerk V. Perle Garfield was directed to communicate with the Dayton company and word was received by telephone that a representative of the company would come here to investigate.

Commissioner Henry Seiter said that six barrels of the paint had been contracted for to be shipped in five-gallon lots. Asked how much had been paid for it, he replied that he thought it cost $1.10 a gallon.

THE HEAVENS IN JULY AND LOCATION OF STARS

Motions of the Stars in Corona Borealis Traced.

REMARKABLE DOUBLE STARS ARE INTERESTING

How the Stars May Be Located by the Student of Astronomy—The Month Is One To Delight the Star Gazers—The Planets in July and Their Positions.

Corona Borealis—the "Northern Crown"—though not one of the brightest constellations is conspicuous enough to deserve inclusion in our list of initial illustrations. It is very easy to recognize. The semicircle of seven stars, on the line joining Arcturus and Vega, and nearer the former, can not be mistaken for any other configuration, and stands out among the neighboring stars clearly enough to convince us that this is a natural constellation—if we may so speak—and not merely a group with arbitrarily assigned boundaries.

It has also the somewhat unusual distinction of bearing some resemblance to the object for which it is named. Its form certainly suggests a wreath or crown of some sort.

The first really astronomical question which a look at this group suggests is: Are these stars really near each other—comparatively speaking—and arranged along a semicircle, or is their apparently symmetrical grouping merely an effect of chance?

That the latter alternative is the true one is shown by a study of their proper motions—that is, of the motions, apparently slow but really rapid, which the stars themselves possess in space.

No two of the seven stars composing the circlet are moving in the same direction, or at the same rate. The two brightest, Alpha and Beta Coronae, are moving in opposite directions and have nearly exchanged places in the past 50,000 years, which is a short time in the history of a star. At an equal interval hence, they will be apparently three times as far apart as they are now; and some of the other stars will also have moved so far that the group will bear no resemblance at all to its present aspect.

It may seem a bold prophecy to predict at all what a constellation will look like after so long a time; but the change in a star's position which would be necessary to alter the appearance of the group to the naked eye is several thousand times as great as the amount which can be detected by accurate measurements with suitable telescopes. We have accurate observations of these stars covering over a century and from these their motions can be determined, and their positions predicted, even 1,000 centuries hence, more accurately than naked-eye estimates could determine them then.

Some of the individual stars of the group deserve mention. Their real brightness, and their distances from us, presumably vary as much from star to star as do the directions and rates of their proper motion. For only one of the brighter stars do we have any trustworthy determination of these quantities—the brightest of all, sometimes called Gemma, which belongs to the group of stars which also includes Sirius and several of the brightest objects in Ursa Minor, a description of which was given in our issue of April 2, 1910. Its distance appears to be about seventy-eight years, and its actual brightness some sixty times that of our sun.

There are several interesting double stars which deserve our notice. Two are rapid binaries. One of these, Gamma Coronae, which lies next to Gemma on the east, is too close and unequal a pair to be separated by any but powerful telescopes. The other, Eta Coronae, may be found by drawing a line from Gemma through the next star to the westward, and carrying it on about two-thirds as far again. This fine and nearby equal pair is now at its greatest separation, about one second, and can be seen double with five inches or more of aperture. The period is 41½ years, and three revolutions have been completed since the first observation by Herschel in 1781.

Sigma Coronae is a binary of long period—350 years or more. The components, of the fifth and sixth magnitudes, are now five seconds apart, and can be separated by a small telescope.

Nu Coronae is a very wide double, separable even by the naked eye, and widely divided by a field-glass. The two components are moving in opposite directions, and their apparent proximity is only accidental.

West of Corona is Bootes, marked by a splendid orange star Arcturus. Below in the southwest is Virgo, with the very bright planet, Jupiter, outshining all her stars. Leo is low in the west, and Ursa Major well down in the northwest.

Ursa Minor and Draco are between the pole and the zenith. Cassiopeia and Cepheus are low in the northeast. Cygnus and Aquila occupy the Milky Way in the east, with Lyra above them, and Hercules still higher up. Capricornus is rising in the southeast, and Sagittarius farther to the southward. Scorpio shows splendidly in the southern sky, the whole curve of his tail being well visible, and Ophiuchus and Serpens are above.

The Planets.

Mercury is in conjunction with the sun on the 3rd, and is invisible, except perhaps at the end of the month, when he sets about 8:15 p. m. and may be seen as an evening star. On the 29th he is close to the bright star, Regulus, but both are low in the twilight. Venus is evening star in Leo and reaches her greatest elongation or apparent distance from the sun, on the 6th. She remains in sight until nearly 10 p. m. on the 1st, but, being farther south and nearer the sun, sets about 9 o'clock at the end of the month. She appears telescopically as a half moon at the beginning of the month and as a wide crescent at its close, and to the naked eye is near her greatest brilliancy.

Mars is in Aries, rising about midnight in the middle of the month. He is slowly moving eastward toward Saturn, and overtakes him in August. Jupiter is in Virgo and adorns the evening sky. He is in quadrature with the sun on the 29th, and is due south at 6 p. m.

Saturn is in Aries, a little east of Mars, and rises about an hour later.

Uranus is in opposition on the 20th, on which date he is in R. A. nineteen hours, fifty-eight minutes, twenty-one seconds, declination twenty-one degrees, fourteen minutes, thirty-seven seconds south, and is moving ten seconds west and twenty-eight seconds south a day. These data will enable those provided with setting circles on their telescopes to find him at once. Otherwise we may proceed as follows. A line from g Sagittarii through a point half way between f and o in the same constellation, carried as far again, points out a group of four small stars. Uranus is just half way between these and b Capricorni, in a very barren region. He appears as a star of the sixth magnitude, barely visible to the naked eye.

Neptune is in conjunction with the sun on the 14th and is invisible throughout the month.

The moon is nearest us on the 24th and farthest away on the 8th. She is in her first quarter at 4 a. m. on the 3rd, full at 7 a. m. on the 11th, in her last quarter at midnight on the 18th, and new at 3 p. m. on the 25th. Since new moon comes so near perigee we may expect unusually high tides about this time, and also unusually low tides, the range of the tide being increased, but the average level of the sea remaining unchanged.

In her circuit of the heavens our satellite comes nearly in line with Jupiter on the 5th. Uranus on the 12th, Mars on the 19th, Saturn on the 20th, Neptune on the 24th, Mercury on the 27th, and Venus on the 28th. The conjunction with Jupiter is fairly close, but takes place after the moon has set upon our part of the world.—By Henry Norris Russell, Ph. D., of Princeton University Observatory, in the Scientific American.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are common symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. It has cured many stubborn cases in this vicinity.

Can Marion residents demand further proof than the following testimonial?

Henry S. Smith, 366 W. Bigelow St., Upper Sandusky, Ohio, says: "I well know what it is to suffer from kidney complaint and backache. Three years ago I had one attack after another, some of which were so severe that I could hardly straighten after stooping. A friend finally advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills but I had little faith in them, as I had previously taken so many other remedies without being helped. However, I finally procured a box and they entirely cured me. I have been free from kidney complaint and backache during the past three years and I give Doan's Kidney Pills credit for effecting a permanent cure."

GEORGE MARTIN FIRES BULLET INTO BREAST

Shoots Himself at His Home in East Marion.

UNFORTUNATE MAN IS EXPECTED TO RECOVER

Has a Thirty-Two Caliber Bullet Wound in His Left Breast—Man Is Depressed by Illness and It Is Thought Is Temporarily Insane. Has a Wife and Children.

Depressed because of continued illness and his mind temporarily affected by the intense heat, George Martin, forty years old, an employe of the Huber Manufacturing company, residing at No. 312 south Grand avenue, when his wife stepped into the kitchen, Sunday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock, arose from a sickbed, walked upstairs for his revolver and down again, then shot a thirty-two caliber bullet into his left breast. He will recover.

The bullet entered an inch or two above the left nipple, followed the line of least resistance and lodged somewhere beneath the left shoulder blade. It has not been removed.

For several months, Mr. Martin has been a victim of a dread disease known as neurasthenia. He had been under the care of physicians for a long time and was recovering nicely when he walked a considerable distance and was overcome. Since then certain people have told him that his condition was incurable. This seemed to prey upon his mind, and he decided to kill himself. This he admitted to Dr. S. H. Britton, who, with Dr. H. L. Chler, was called to attend him.

In speaking of Mr. Martin's case Monday morning, Dr Briton said there was no question but that his mind was affected by the heat.

"He is extremely nervous as a result of overwork," continued the physician," but I think he will recover all right unless unforeseen complications should set in. The bullet does not seem to have struck a vital spot or we would have known it long before this time."

Mr. Martin is married and the father of several children.

DAME FASHION LEADS.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for July 16 is, "Manasseh's Wickedness and Penitence." 2 Chronicles, 22:1-20.

Cleopatra is famous—or infamous—in history as the woman who led kings captive to their ruin Her influence is said to have changed the current of history. More potent than Egypt's beautiful queen, however, in affecting the fate of nations has been the force whom we sometimes personify as Madame Grundy or Dame Fashion. That tyrannous old lady has led kings and empires about as a society girl leads a poodle dog; and she is still in business. The assigned story of the misdeeds and misery of Manasseh, because he slavishly followed the day's vogue, may be interpreted by countless instances from contemporary history. Madame Grundy is still the worst woman in the world, and the chief handmaiden of the evil one.

The tendency which gives power to fashion-following is as old as man, and as young as last year's babe. The greatest of Hebrew seers discerned it when he said, "all we like sheep have gone astray." Th manner, rather than the fact of the astrayness, is the point of that observation. Men do not go astray in purposeful, resolute self-direction; rather, they wander like witless sheep, flocking stupidly after any wicked old bellwether that chooses to jump the fence into forbidden fields. The Indian mothers who proudly put gaudy, tinselled, shapeless imitations of European frocks upon their little children are in the same class with Manasseh, and with the sheep, and with the boys who learn to smoke, and with the man who buys an automobile which he cannot afford; all are indiscriminately following a fashion, poor slaves of Madame Grundy.

An Unkingly King.

It is the place of kings to lead fashions, and not to follow them. So, also, of all royal men and women. That is a hard truth to get into the head of the average person. Consider the multitudes of persons who this month are leaving comfortable homes in order to endure the discomforts of expensive summer resorts, simply because it is the fashion to go away from home for a vacation. Contemplate the weary women who strain nerves and purses to wear the hats and sleeves and skirts that Dame Fashion arbitrarily prescribes Behold an entire nation like Japan, giving up its distinctive and beautiful art, and its very sense of color, in order to imitate western ways, so that it is easier to buy gaudy German lithographs in Tokio today than it is to buy the traditional Japanese prints.

Alas for the crowns that are flung away! A single glance into the mirror of our times and practices makes us more gentle with poor old Manasseh. Let us remember that he started out a spoiled child, a victim of the Oriental harem system. Called to the throne at twelve, he was the prey of sycophants, flatterers and courtiers. Everybody blames the spoiled child, why not pity him "The rich man's son had not a fair chance today," declares J. Campbell White. Manasseh was given a bad start, perhaps by counsellors of the Assyrian party. Certainly, some evil genius was at his side to teach him a contempt for the religion of his father; he thought that Hezekiah was "an old fogy," "slow," and "behind the times," he would be "up-to-date" and "in the swim.' Little he reckoned of the maelstroms ahead

A Long, Bad Career.

For fifty-five years this misguided man was king of Judah—the longest reign in the nation's history. He lived at the time of Assyria's greatest power, and he was doubtless a vassal of that world-empire. His father had been a non-conformer; he himself was a conformer, and undid, so far as lay in his power, Hezekiah's great work. The latter sought to serve the living God, his son sought to follow the Assyrian fashion. He did not want to rule over a little, one-horse "peculiar" kingdom; his ambition was to make Judah as like as possible to Assyria. In Japan today Manasseh would be called "a high collar" or one who apes foreign styles.

He enters that familiar arch-enemy of the Jews, "the abominations of the nations." After all the past experience of the Chosen People, and the dramatic reminders that Jehovah was greater than all the false gods, from the drowning of the Egyptians in the Red Sea to the mysterious defeat of the Assyrians in Hezekiah's day, one would suppose that the lesson of the wickedness of idolatry had been well learned But no, foolish Manasseh must set up once more, even in the temple itself, the idols which Jehovah had so often caused to be overthrown. With these went wicked practices which, happily, are not even understood by Christian readers.

As is generally the case, desertion of the true God was followed by a repudiation of the moral standards. Witchcraft followed in the wake of idolatry. Justice disappeared, and the streets of the city ran red with the blood of innocent persons, slain by the king who should have been their protector. The common welfare is most secure where the laws of God are best observed.

The Turning of the Lane.

Everybody has observed that when a man goes wrong he is likely to go farthest wrong; the prodigal behaves worse than the inhabitants of "the far country." This son of a God-fearing father outstripped the idolatrous Assyrians in wickedness. In a factory where many ignorant and evil men worked the most corrupt and corrupting was one of the higher-grade workers, the educated son of a Sunday-school superintendent. The awful record of this king of Judah is thus written: "And Manasseh seduced Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that they did evil more than did the nations whom Jehovah destroyed before the children of Israel."

Small wonder that the outraged Jehovah declared, "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." Ages-old is the folly of man, which attempts to war against the great God. "Wherefore Jehovah brought upon them"—the oft-warned but still obdurate people of Judah—"the captains of the host of the king of Assyria, who took Manasseh in chains, and bound him with fetters, and carried him to Babylon" The turning of the long lane of sin had been reached—and it led to a miry pit.

The Second Chance.

The greatest glory of God is His mercy. He must be just, but He also is compassionate. Some fathers disown their undeserving children forever, but the gate of the heavenly Father's house is never shut against a repentant prodigal. Even foolish, fashion-following, wicked Manasseh was given another opportunity. In captivity's hard school he learned his lesson, and penitent, prayed and was pardoned. He reformer, returned and rebuilt. God let him go back to Jerusalem to undo, in his old age, some of the mischief he had wrought through a long life. He was forgiven, but he could not forget. Some scars may not be obliterated, some ruins may not be rebuilt.

Whosoever goes the world's way goes the wrong way Evil runs in crowds, virtue walks apart. Follow fashion, follow folly But "let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him, and to our God for He will abundantly pardon."

TWO GIRLS ARE VICTIMS OF A VICIOUS ASSAULT

Fiend Strikes Each in Darkness on Quarry Street.

MISS FLORA SPICER IN FELLOW'S CLUTCHES

He Drags Her Between a Couple of Cars, but Fails To Accomplish His Purpose—Miss Mary Rogers Gives the Alarm—Fellow Makes His Escape—Man Held by Police.

Miss Flora Spicer, aged twenty-three years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Thomas Spicer, of Quarry street, and her guest, Miss Mary Rogers, aged twenty-two, of West Mansfield, were the victims of a most fiendish assault about 9 o'clock Sunday evening Fortunately the fellow who attacked the girls was frightened away before he succeeded in accomplishing his purpose.

The Rogers girl came from her home. Sunday noon, to visit with Miss Spicer. Sunday evening, they made a trip uptown to secure some ice-cream and were returning home when they were attacked. At a point opposite the Big Four freight house, on Quarry street, each was struck terrific blows on the back of the head by their assailant who approached from the rear. The Spicer girl was knocked down, but the Rogers girl turned and screamed. At this point the fiend struck the girl in the face and grabbed her hands, but she tore loose and ran down Quarry street screaming for help.

Is Semi-Conscious.

So frightened was the Spicer girl that she was unable to get up, being rendered semi-conscious from the blow she received. The man then dragged her some distance from the walk to a place between two cars, where she was found a few minutes later by Andrew Andrews, who resides at the corner of Ballentine avenue and Quarry street, and who answered the Rogers girl for help. The waist of her dress was almost completely torn off and part of her other clothing was badly torn. She was so frightened that for a time she was unable to tell much of her experience. She stated that she realized that she was being dragged from the street, but was unable to sound any cry for help. She states that the man left as soon as he had placed her between the cars and he ran across the tracks

Girls Taken Home.

The girls were taken to the Spicer home and Dr. J. B. Taylor was called to attend them. Both girls were bruised about the head as the result of the blows received from their assailant and each was suffering of nervous shock. The Spicer girl was so weak from her experience that she was confined to her bed Monday. The Rogers girl states that owing to the darkness she would hardly be able to identify the man who assaulted them, but the Spicer girl stated that she believed she would recognize him if she were to see him. The parents of the Spicer girl are at present visiting at the home of their son, C. W. Spicer, of No. 3762 Union avenue, Hyde Park, Cincinnati.

KLEINMAIER HOME IS SCENE OF CELEBRATION

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hershberg Guests of Honor.

A LARGE COMPANY ENJOYS THE AFFAIR

Mr. and Mrs. Hershberg Are Married Fifty Years and Their Friends and Relatives Rejoice To Have Them Here for a Celebration of the Happy Event—Delightful Day.

A large number of relatives assembled, Sunday afternoon, at the residence of Mr. S. G. Kleinmaier, of west Center street, to assist in celebrating the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hershberg, of Titusville, Pennsylvania, uncle and aunt of Mr. Kleinmaier.

Mr and Mrs Hershberg were induced by their many relatives who reside here, to celebrate this pleasant event in Marion as all their relatives and most of their old-time friends in Titusville are either dead or have moved away, and it would be a pleasure to their nephews and nieces who reside here to entertain them on this occasion, instead of being entertained by them in Titusville.

Mr. and Mrs Hershberg were married in Syracuse, New York, on July 8, 1861, at a time when the union of these states was in great peril. They have resided their entire fifty years of married life in Titusville and are known in that community as the happiest couple in the city on account of their happy and contented looks and their constant companionship. The couple received a large number of telegrams and letters of congratulation and also numerous and valuable presents, although they had sent out no invitations

The nieces of the aged couple, Mrs. E. Katz, Mrs. S G. Kleinmaier and Mrs. B. E. Kleinmaier, prepared an elaborated banquet and invited the other relatives from this city, Columbus and Cleveland. At 7 o'clock, they served an elegant buffet supper. The place cards contained a beautiful photograph of Mr. and Mrs Hershberg with a gilt monogram and the dates 1861-1911. Covers were placed for thirty-five.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershberg are stopping at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. Katz, where they expect to remain for another two weeks. No one would think them of an age to celebrate their golden wedding as they are as lively as most young couples.

The guest from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Scheuer, Mrs. J. S. Garson, Mrs. Charles Schaffner, Miss Caroline Schaffner, Miss Rosalie Carson and Miss Jeannette Einstein and Mr. Max Einstein, of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lazarus, Jr., and Mr. George Kleinmaier, of Columbus, and Mr. Sidney Katz, of Durham, New Hampshire.

DOG PUTS ITS OWNERS UP TELEPHONE POLE

They Remain on Pole Until the Animal Is Shot.

Three members of the repair staff of the Delaware Electric Light company were chased up a pole while they were at work there, last Friday afternoon, by a mad dog and were unable to descend until the dog had been shot. Messrs. Grove, Gwynn and Ruder of the staff have owned a pet bull dog which accompanied them on their trips. Last Friday afternoon, they noticed that the animal on the wagon was acting queerly. Ruder climbed down from a pole and put the dog off the wagon. The animal started after him and he was compelled to get up the pole. The men were afraid to leave the poles until a man shot the animal.

ATTORNEY GENERAL GIVES NEW RULING

Matter of Board of Education Paying for Telephones.

Under a ruling of Attorney General Hogan, the Marion board of education is doing the public an injustice by maintaining a telephone in the private residence of its clerk, H. Edmond Hill. He holds that it is illegal for all public boards to pay the bills for private telephones in the residences of officials.

It has been the custom of the local board of education to pay its clerk $15 a month and give him a free telephone. The probabilities are that the board will not pay the clerk's private residence telephone bill in the future, but it may increase his salary to make up the difference.

The cause is assigned for hearing on its merits Saturday at 9 o'clock July 29

Mr Whysall's bond was fixed at $50,000 He qualified later by furnishing a bond acceptable to County Clerk W W Klinefelter

Judge Babst's order in reappointing Mr Whysall receiver is sweeping in its scope All persons including officers and agents having any of the property assets monies securities, or other personal effects of either and all of the several allied companies in their possession or under their control are ordered and directed forthwith to deliver the same to Receiver Whysall The newly-appointed receiver is further ordered to proceed and cause an inventory and appraisement to be made of the premises and return the same to the court

General Finley Talks

General E B Finley of Bucyrus who represents a number of preferred stockholders holding stocks amounting to $40 000 immediately after Judge Babst rendered his decision declared

Now there will be what General Sherman said what war was down in Columbus But we'll be right here on the job There will be fighting at this end too

In August 1909 when Newton J Catrow accompanied by his attorney Earl H Turner of Dayton came to Marion with receivership papers to file here a dispute arose as to the advisability of appointing one or two receivers The papers were turned over to Clerk Klinefelter the evidence taken by Judge Babst showed The late Judge B C Young read over the petition and the answer and said he did not think it necessary that two receivers should be appointed to operate such a short road Catrow and Turner wanted two receivers

Papers Filed Properly

Although the county clerk had not placed the file mark on the papers Judge Babst held that they were properly filed The next day the papers were filed in the Franklin county common pleas court They were surreptitiously removed either by Catrow or Turner

Later Judge Young was appointed Whysall receiver vacating his order and Whysall was made co-receiver with J H M West of Columbus by Judge Kinkead of the Franklin county common pleas court At a still later date Whysall was dropped as co-receiver and West continued as receiver

A Good Sleeper.

Talleyrand used to tell an extraordinary story of the impassiveness of Louis XVIII When he was minister of foreign affairs a courier came to him one evening bearing unpleasant news and he therefore postponed the communication of it to the king the next morning when he explained that he was afraid the tidings might have disturbed his majesty's sleep The king replied "Nothing disturbs me sleep as you may see from this instance The most dreadful blow of my life was my brother's death The courier who brought this dreadful news arrived at 8 o'clock in the evening For many hours I was quite overcome but at midnight I went to bed and slept my usual eight hours" The story is told by the Duchesse of Dino, Talleyrand's niece, in her memoirs.

Instructions of West.

As soon as Receiver Eli M. West, of Columbus, heard of the order reappointing Mr. Whysall receiver he got into communication with the C. D & M. agent here as well as the superintendent of the street railway system and instructed them not to give up possession.

Don't precipitate a fight," West instructed, "but make them put you out." He gave similar instructions to the C. D & M. agent at Delaware.

In speaking of the reappointment of Mr. Whysall as receiver, Tuesday's Columbus Citizens says:

With the appointment of Whysall as receiver after West's appointment had been sustained, the matter will now probably resolve itself into contempt proceedings, the Franklin county courts holding Whysall in contempt and the Marion county courts naming West as the violator. Arrests will probably follow, according to West.

If contempt proceedings result, habeas corpus action will then be brought, according to West, and the affair will be finally threshed out in the supreme court.

Overrides Local Court.

Judge Babst's action, Tuesday, was taken on the original pleadings in the controversy of Newton J. Catrow against the C., D & M., which was subsequently taken into the Franklin county courts, and upon which Whysall and Eli M. West were made co-receivers. Whysall was later removed by the court's order.

Judge Babst held that he had jurisdiction and ignored the "alleged assumed jurisdiction of the Franklin county courts."

We will win out again," said Eli M. West, Tuesday. "The circle which Whysall represents is not after the good of the company or its creditors."

Begins Two Years Ago.

The action of Judge Babst Tuesday in removing West and appointing Whysall is a victory for John G. Webb, original promoter and president of the road.

About two years ago the litigation began when President Webb, who had promoted the line successfully, called N. J. Catrow, Miamisburg banker, and Judge Gotschall, of Dayton, and other stockholders to his home in Springfield and announced to them that he was financially embarrassed. There had been no trouble prior to this time.

It agreed that the road should be thrown into the hands of a receiver to save it. Whysall, then general manager of the road, suggested that the application for a receiver be made in Marion to Judge Boston Young, now deceased.

The parties went to Marion and the suspicions of Catrow and Gotschall were aroused by the action of Webb in trying to secure the appointment of Whysall as receiver.

Earl Turner, attorney for Catrow and Gotschall still holding the position rushed to Columbus and filed the suit, Judge Kinkead appointing Eli West. Judge Young at the same time appointed Whysall at Marion. There was a conflict and later the matter was straightened out between Judge Kinkead and Judge Young.

The action of Judge Babst, Tuesday, places the matter where it started two years ago, with a clash between the courts of Marion and Franklin Counties.

Whysall is at present receiver of the Columbus Marion & Bucyrus railway, an extension of the C., D. & M.

Tents Blown Down.

The John Robinson circus was caught in the big storm which struck Bellefontaine just after the close of the performance, Tuesday afternoon, and every inch of canvas was laid flat. The big tent was empty and no one was injured. The four tent walls enclosing the menagerie were also blown down and the animals were somewhat excited, but little or no damage was done.

The Rayl Sunday-school class picnic which was to have been held Tuesday was postponed on account of the rain. It will probably be held the second Tuesday in August.

JENNIE M. M'MILLAN DIES WEDNESDAY

Death Is Result of an Illness of Tuberculosis.

Jennie May McMillan, aged twenty-two years, died of tuberculosis Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMillan, of No. 569 east Church street. The young woman was a member of the Epworth M. E. church, and was admired for her beautiful Christian character. She was also a member of the J. E. Sifritt Sunday-school class of the Epworth church. She was of a lovable disposition and will be sadly missed from her circle of friends.

TWO FINE COTTAGES DESTROYED BY FIRE

Summer Homes of Marion People Are Burned.

MESSAGE RECEIVED AS TO LOSS SUFFERED

Frederick Haberman and Dr. L. D. Hamilton Lose Between $4,000 and $5,000 by the Destruction of Their Cottages at Bay View, Michigan, Tuesday Afternoon.

The fine cottages of Frederick Haberman and Dr. L. D. Hamilton at Bay View, Michigan, were destroyed by fire, Tuesday afternoon, entailing a total loss of $4,000 or $5,000, partially covered by insurance. The fire started from a spark from the chimney of the Haberman cottage and the blaze was quickly communicated to the Hamilton cottage just fifteen feet away.

Wednesday, Mr. Haberman received a night-letter from Henry Raffensperger, who went to Bay View to open the Haberman cottage preparatory to the Habermans going there. In his message, Mr. Raffensperger said that the cottage was fired under the roof by a spark from the chimney three-quarters of an hour after dinner and that everything was lost, including the clothing of the cottage owners.

A night-letter received by Dr. Hamilton, Wednesday, from Jeannette Hamilton, his daughter, stated that their cottage was totally destroyed, but that all the clothing was saved. With Miss Hamilton at Rosedale, a suburb of Bay View, are Robert and Charles Hamilton, her small brothers. Dr. Hamilton wired for his children to come home immediately after he received the night-letter.

Mr. Haberman declared he did not know what his loss would be. He said he had not figured it. Dr. Hamilton thought the total loss on both cottages would amount to $4,000 or $5,000.

"They were worth $2,500 each," the doctor said.

Both cottages were two stories high.

BELIEVED OUTSIDE OSCODA FIRE ZONE

No Word Received from Arens Cottage Company.

W. H. Schaffner, a member of the Pine Lake Outing club, which has a cottage at Pine Lake, Michigan, expressed the opinion, that the forest fires which swept about Oscoda must have gone up the opposite side of the river from Pine lake.

The only Marion people known to be at Pine lake are Dr. Z. B. Houghton, Charles Curtis and L. Arnes and their families. The Houghtons and Curtises are staying at the Arnes cottage. As no telegrams have been received from them it is thought that they are outside the fire zone.

OBITUARY.

Core, was born October 15, 1887, in Harpster, and departed this life Tuesday morning, June 27, 1911, at the home of her parents near Morral, at the early age of twenty-three years, eight months and twelve days. A HEAVY RAIN STORM SWEEPS OVER COUNTY

Some Damage Done by Lightning and Hail Tuesday.

THE STORM CENTERS IN VICINITY OF MARION

Local Electrical Equipment Is Disabled by Lightning—Hail Does Some Damage to Corn, but the Farmers Are Recompensed by the Rain—The Temperature.

A heavy rain storm, entailing considerable damage by lightning and hail, swept over practically all of Marion county, Tuesday evening. The storm appeared to center near Marion, but all the surrounding towns were reached and a heavy rainfall all over the county is reported.

Although the heavy fall of hail threatened much damage to crops and especially to the corn, the losses are not serious. In some cases, the corn blades were badly cut by the hail, but farmers say that the general damage will not be great. In this city hail stones measuring over a half inch in diameter fell. The damage to the corn by the hail is recovered in the rain, which was badly needed by Marion county farmers, especially north of the city. About an inch and a half of rain fell.

Lightning Losses.

The lightning struck trees all over the county, but few serious losses from the lightning are reported. A valuable cow belonging to William Kinnamon, south of Agosta, was struck and instantly killed.

In this city, many telephones were burned out and the Marion Railway, Light & Power company's equipment was badly crippled.

On the C., D. & M., there were several delays on account of the storm. The four-o'clock limited car out of Columbus was considerably over an hour late and arrived here after 6 o'clock. On the C., M. & B., there were also several delays on account of equipment burning out.

Temperature Drops.

The storm caused a decided fall in the temperature and came as a relief to local people who were suffering of the extreme heat during the day. The highest mark reached in temperature during the day was ninety-three degrees, and when the storm came up shortly before 4 o'clock, the mercury dropped to eighty degrees. During the storm it lowered to seventy-seven degrees. During the storm, and immediately following it, the weather was chilly. In the night, the temperature continued to lower until morning. The lowest point reached for the night was sixty-seven degrees.

MARION AUTO DRIVERS NOT GREAT VIOLATORS

Many Drivers Are Ignorant of the State Laws.

Patrick Kelly, of Columbus, a state automobile license inspector, who has been in Marion since Monday, declares that Marion automobile owners and chauffeurs are no greater violators of the law than in other cities he has visited.

"The majority of the owners and drivers who violate the law evidently violate it through ignorance," Mr. Kelly said. "All chauffeurs are required under the law to register One thing that I find in Marion and other towns is that chauffeurs do not seem to understand that they must wear badges upon their clothing where they may be seen, while operating motor vehicles upon all public highways. Not only chauffeurs, but testers, repair men and mechanics in the employment of garages must wear badges and are also required to register."

Inspector Kelly thinks that there will be few violations of the law when the people understand the provisions. He pointed out that all machine numbers should be attached both at the front and the rear of the machine.

"These numbers must be so fastened that they must not swing," the inspector declared. "The reason for that is plain. If they swing the numbers would be hard to read. Hence the law says they must be fixed so that they do not swing and that the number must be in the front and in the rear of the machine where they can be easily seen."

THE COMPLETE DOUBLE TRACKING OF THE ERIE

Entire Line from New York to Chicago To Be Doubled.

CINCINNATI DIVISION WILL BE IMPROVED

The Total Cost of the Improvements To Be Made by the Erie Will Amount to $1,000,000—Road Is Gaining Rapidly Under the Present Management—Railway Notes.

After persistent reports had been circulated here regarding the complete double tracking of the Erie, official announcement has been made that the road will build 465 miles of track between New York and Chicago, thus completing the double tracking of the entire road between those points. The entire Cincinnati division also is to be double tracked. Considerable work on the Cincinnati division, however, was done last year, double track being laid between Sherman and Sterling and between Nankin and Ashland. The total improvements will cost $1,000,000.

Regarding the double tracking the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Wednesday morning says:

Contracts already have been let for three miles of second track between Tallmage and Hills, 2.7 miles between Barberton and Sherman, 9.2 miles between Creston and West Salem, 6.5 miles between Milton and Summit and 5.4 miles between West Salem and Polk. From Ravena five miles of work is under way. It is believed to be the road's intention to make like improvements on the old Chicago & Erie subsidiary, from Marion, to Hammond, Indiana.

Within recent years the Erie has been making strides in the mater of management and financial backing, and the present management, under President E. D. Underwood, is drawing attention to the road for progressiveness.

On Wall street there have been reports for weeks that the Canadian Pacific railroad was about to make a traffic alliance with the Erie, whereby the dominion road might get into New York City. This, the Canadian road's president has denied.

The Hocking Valley Railway company, which has been making extensive improvements in Toledo terminals at Walbridge, will soon begin the erection of a ten-stall roundhouse at the new yards. The plans for the new structure are completed and the concrete contracts are let. The railroad will do the greater part of the erection work and the new building will be ready for use this fall. It will include a machine shop at which engine repairs can be made and will be a great help to the operating department of the road, which in the past has not had any facilities at Toledo for making the minor repairs which are so often required by engines in active service.—Ohio State Journal.

HIS EYES KICKED OUT AND SKULL FRACTURED

Harry Elliott Is Victim of Terrible Accident.

With the sight of both eyes destroyed, his forehead fractured and the brain exposed where he had been kicked by a supposedly gentle horse, Harry Elliott, aged twenty-one, of Marysville, was brought to Mt. Carmel hospital Wednesday night and probably will die.

Elliott was driving in the village at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when the horse swished his tail and caught the reins under it. With the butt of the whip Elliott attempted to disentangle the lines. The horse became frightened and kicked.

The hoof struck Elliott in the forehead above the right eye, and the calk of the shoe inflicted several severe wounds. The frontal bone was broken into many pieces, some of which have been removed. The brain was exposed to view and the right eye was pushed far out of its socket. The left eye was lacerated so badly that the sight can not be saved.

Elliott was given temporary aid in Marysville and was brought here over the T. & O. C. at 8 o'clock. He was taken to the hospital in Shaw's ambulance. Hospital physicians say he shows symptoms of having a fracture at the base of the skull. Should Elliott live a plate will have to be inserted in his forehead.—Ohio State Journal.

QUIETLY ENTERS THE PRECINCTS OF THE CITY

Eli M. West Visits Local Attorneys Wednesday.

LOCAL PEOPLE WATCH FOR COMING OF WEST

Presence in City Is Denied by Those in Touch with Movements of the Columbus Man Until After His Departure—Conspiracy Charges To Be Brought—C., D. & M. Muddle.

Eli M. West, of Columbus, Judge E. B. Kinkead's receiver for the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway company and its allied corporations, came to Marion from Columbus, Wednesday afternoon. He departed from Marion after consulting Attorneys Mouser & Moloney and Crissinger & Guthery. West, possibly, feared he might be arrested for contempt of court in issuing certain orders since George Whysall was appointed receiver, and hence his visit was made in a decidedly unostentatious way on the two-o'clock interurban car.

Accompanying the receiver appointed in Franklin county was his nephew and Attorney Harry West. The latter also came in without a brass band, but inasmuch as he is not a receiver he did not fear arrest and shortly after his arrival made his presence known. The Wests are thought to have alighted from the car in the West End and gone to the office of Crissinger & Guthery in a hack.

Presence Is Denied.

At the time it was strenuously denied that the Wests were in the city, but later, when Receiver West was safe from arrest, it was admitted he was here. The big feature of their visit was disclosed when Attorney West confirmed Columbus rumors that conspiracy charges are to be filed against Judge Daniel Babst, of Crestline; John G. Webb, of Springfield, former president of the C., D. & M., and George Whysall, former general manager of the road. The outcome of the conspiracy charges, if proven, will be an attempt to impeach Judge Babst, who, with Webb and Whysall, will be accused of trying to secure control of the property for selfish reasons and in contravention of creditors' rights.

Attorney West, while here, declared that if the road's agents here or elsewhere are interfered with in any manner by any person or persons those interfering will be adjudged in contempt of the Franklin county common pleas court. Only in this way can the dispute between the opposing sides come to a focus, he said. The conspiracy charges are to be filed in Columbus. Attorney West would not say when they would be filed.

Conspiracy Charges.

In speaking of the conspiracy charges the Ohio State Journal quotes Receiver West as saying that Judge Babst and Whysall's attorney, who is General E. B. Finley, of Bucyrus, were the only persons in the court-room at the time Whysall was reappointed. He is further quoted as saying that Judge Babst did not even take the bench when he rendered his decision. If Receiver West is correctly quoted, then he has been most incorrectly informed. When Judge Babst ascended the bench and read his decision, a Star reporter and half a dozen others were in the court-room. The company included General Finley, Attorney John H. Bartram, County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter, Court Bailiff Charles Dec, Ray Oswald and Samuel Bent.

Attorney J. H. Eymon, who was appointed special master commissioner by Judge Babst when he reappointed Whysall receiver, stood in the corridor of the courthouse on the second floor practically all of Wednesday afternoon watching for Receiver West or his attorney to put in an appearance, but the Wests fought shy of the courthouse.

Coming Addresses.

Schuh, president of the Capital university, of Columbus, a noted educator, will deliver his illustrated lecture on "The Life of Christ," at the Trinity Lutheran church at Bethlehem, Sunday evening, July 16, and his illustrated lecture on "The Life of Martin Luther," at St. Paul's church in Richland township, Monday evening, July 17. CROPS AND LIVESTOCK THROUGHOUT THE STATE

Ohio Department of Agriculture Makes Report.

THE CORRESPONDENTS MAKE THE RETURNS

Estimates Are Based on the Returns Made by Correspondents in Various Sections of the State—The Wheat Prospect Is Not What It Should Be—Other Crops.

The following report represents area, prospect and condition of crops named, as compiled from returns received from official correspondents of the Ohio department of agriculture:

Wheat, prospect compared with normal yield, 84 per cent; damaged by joint worm, 5 per cent; area sown last fall, 2,014,189 acres; original area plowed up, 2 per cent.; estimated area for the harvest, 1,990,727 acres.

Barley, prospect compared with normal yield, 88 per cent.

Rye, prospect compared with normal yield, 86 per cent.

Oats, prospect compared with normal yield, 76 per cent.

Corn, area in 1910, 3,074,292 acres; area compared with last year, 98 per cent.; total estimated area for 1911, 2,986,625 acres: condition compared with an average, 89 per cent.; damaged by cut worm, 8 per cent.; damaged by white grub worm, 3 per cent.

Clover, damaged by white grub worm, 5 per cent.

Potatoes, area in 1910, 143,431 acres; area compared with last year, 93 per cent.; estimated area for 1911, 130,690 acres; condition compared with an average, 78 per cent.

Timothy, prospect compared with normal yield, 61 per cent.

Pastures, condition compared with an average, 75 per cent.

Horses, condition compared with an average, 95 per cent.

Colts, number compared with an average, 94 per cent.

Cattle, condition compared with an average, 94 per cent.

Calves, number compared with an average, 94 per cent.

Wool, clipped compared with last year, 94 per cent.

Since the issuance of the June report wheat shows a further decline of four per cent., the prospect being now estimated at eighty-four per cent. The report shows that the crop has suffered a damage of five per cent. by joint worm. There are also many complaints of damage by Hessian fly. Of the original area seeded, two per cent. was plowed up in the spring. It is now estimated that 1,990,727 acres will be harvested. This should produce approximately 25,083,160 bushels.

Rye prospect is estimated at eighty-six per cent.

Oats shows the same prospect as reported one month ago, seventy-six per cent. This crop has suffered severely by the long continued drought. The harvest will be short from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels in comparison with the production of last year.

The area planted to corn is estimated at 2,986,625 acres. This is a decline of two per cent. in comparison with 1910 area. The crop generally is very uneven. Its growth was retarded by drought. Recent rainfalls have been very beneficial. Its present growing condition is estimated at eighty-nine per cent. Cut and grub worms have damaged corn to the extent of eleven per cent. One year ago the growing condition of plant was estimated at eighty-three per cent.

Area planted to potatoes is estimated at 130,690 acres. Growing condition seventy-eight per cent. On the corresponding date one year ago growing condition was estimated at ninety-three per cent.

Pastures are in very poor condition, due to severe drought.

Timothy prospect estimated sixty-one per cent.

400 HORSES DIE IN FIRE

Scores of Lives Imperiled in Chicago Blaze.

EQUINES REFUSE TO LEAVE BURNING MATES

Fire Has Some Very Spectacular Features.

Only After Allowing Horses To Rub Noses Are Firemen and Stablemen Able To Rescue Any of Frenzied Animals—Loss to Transfer Company Will Reach $300,000—Origin of Fire Is Mystery.

Chicago, July 10.—Fire which caused a loss of $300,000 destroyed the huge barns of the Arthur Dixon Transfer company at Fourteenth and State streets, burned to death 400 horses, imperiled the lives of a score of men and tied up the South Side elevated railway line and State-street surface line for hours yesterday.

The fire had many spectacular features, aside from the general panic in the thickly-congested district, where a wierd assortment of household goods was hurriedly tumbled into the streets and alleys. Horses that had been rescued fought off their rescuers and fled back into the burning barns to perish. One horse jumped twenty-six feet from a second-story door, landed on his feet and ran to the lake front for protection. Many horses could not be brought out until their mates were taken to them. After rubbing noses, it was then easy to get the panic-stricken animals out.

The blaze was attributed directly to the intensethy hot weather and was the most spectacular witnessed in Chicago for months.

Fire Spreads Rapidly.

It started at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning on the top floor of the four-story structure and spread with lightning-like rapidity throughout the entire building. The services of more than thirty engine and hook and ladder companies was necessary to prevent the fire from becoming general throughout the district.

The fire had been burning for an hour, when the east wall of the building toppled over, precipitating a general collapse of the structure above the second floor. The horses housed in the third floor were crushed and burned by the mass of debris, and those that were not killed outright it was found necessary for the firemen and policemen to kill later with their axes and revolvers in order to end their suffering.

They were all heavy draft animals worth approximately $400 each, the loss from this cause alone being estimated at more than $125,000. More than 100 horses stabled on the first floor were saved from a like fate by the heavy steel beams composing the roof of the first story, which caught the mass of wreckage and supported it so that employees in the barns were able to lead them to safety.

Elevated Tracks Blocked.

When the east wall fell, a portion of it swung outward and crashed down on the elevated structure directly in the rear of the barns. The tracks were so badly damaged and the danger from fire and falling debris so great that all traffic over the line was suspended north of Eighteenth street until after noon.

Twenty-seven firemen had a miraculous escape from death last night while fighting the smoldering embers of the ruins of the Dixon Transfer company barns. The accident followed a similar one earlier in the day, when Chief Seyferlich and twenty men barely escaped being crushed by falling walls.

The men in last night's accident were on the second floor of the building, near the southeast corner, when the floor fell with a crash. Four were injured, one seriously.

RIOT GUNS ARE USED BY MASSILLON POLICE

Negro Prisoner Is Spirited Away to Canton Jail.

Massillon, O., July 11.—Armed with riot guns, Chief of Police E. M. Ertle and his entire police force, reinforced by deputies, successfully withstood the attack of 100 farmers and railroad men on the city hall and police station, with the object of doing violence to Harvey Mickens, a negro, 21, charged with having attempted a criminal assault on Myrtle Evans, 16, daughter of Richard Evans, a coal miner, in a lonely spot north of this city. After the mob had demanded that Ertle turn over the negro, the chief dispersed the rioters and spirited Mickens to the county jail at Canton in an automobile.

Aeronaut Fatally Injured.

Lima, O., July 11.—William A. Scott, 55, of Springfield, became entangled in telephone wires when he began a flight at a local amusement park, and fell 35 feet. His left leg was broken in two places and he suffered internal injuries from which he can not recover.

Lima, O., July 11.—With the words "Art didn't do it on purpose Mamma," upon his lips, Dewey Schockency, 13, Ada (O.) lad, died in the city hospital here. The boy was shot through the abdomen by Arthur Parks, 15, a playmate, while the two were playing Indian.

HOLDS CHORUS GIRLS TO JURY

Stokes' Tale Not Contradicted, Says Court.

THEFT OF LETTERS TO BE INVESTIGATED

The Defense Scores Heavily on One Point.

Attorney for Stokes Admits Telling Detective To "Pocket the Letters" When They Are Found in Miss Graham's Apartment—Lawyer Has Copies Made of Them and Magistrate Orders Probe of Affair.

New York, July 11.—On a charge of attempted murder, Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad were today held for the grand jury by Magistrate Freschi in the Tombs police court. He fixe bail at $5,000 each. In his opinion Freschi stated that the story of the shooting told by W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire hotel proprietor and clubman, had not been contradicted and that he could do nothing but bind the girls over. He declared also that the theft of the Stokes letters from the flat occupied by the two girls would be carefully investigated.

The defense scored heavily, today, just before the police court examination was concluded. A. H. Gleason, attorney for Stokes, was on the stand and he had related a circumstantial story of the alleged finding of the letters written by Stokes to Lillian Graham by Private Detective Cummings. The detective, he said, picked up the letters from behind a trunk and handed them to him. After examining them, Gleason told him to "slip them into his pocket." That night they were turned over to him and he had copies made after which the letters were sent to the district attorney's office.

As to Letters.

"Isn't it a fact that immediately after the shooting Stokes sent for you and told you that there were some very valuable papers in that flat and that he wanted you to go there and get them before the girls could secure their release and hide them?" demanded counsel for the pair.

Gleason finally admitted that he had such a conversation with Stokes, but insisted that he had not "planted" the letters in the apartment for Cummings to find.

Wilbur Hart, elevator boy at the Varuna apartments, contradicted Stokes' story that he had told him to go right up to the girls' apartment, as he was expected. Stokes, the boy said, entered the hotel and went direct to the elevator, asking to be taken to the Graham apartment. Later, Hart admitted under cross-examination that earlier in the day Lillian Graham had told him she was expecting a call that afternoon from a man named Stokes and that when he came he was to be shown direct to her apartment.

This closed the case and Freschi announced his decision.

KILLS HIMSELF IN TOLEDO PRISON CELL

Man, Driven Insane by Heat, Ends His Life.

Toledo, O., July 10.—Driven insane by the heat, last Wednesday, Fred Pokorny, thirty-five, committed suicide in the county jail, last night, by climbing to the top of his cell, sticking his foot between the bars and hurling his body out from the cell wall. He could have saved himself at any time, according to the coroner, and died by reason of the rush of the blood to his head following his act. He must have been hours dying. Two others, prostrated by heat last week, died Sunday.

INSURGENTS IN SORRY PLIGHT

Are Unable To Amend Reciprocity Bill.

THE DEMOCRATIC SENATORS CLASH

Trouble Arises Over Difference of Opinion.

Are Unable To Agree as to Whether Principle Involved Is in Line with Party Policy or Whether It Is Combination of Free Trade and Protection—All of Cummins' Amendments Are Voted Down.

Washington, July 11. — By voting them down, the senate disposed of the Cummins and Simmons amendments to the Canadian reciprocity bill.

The roll was called on several amendments. On one vote the opposition to the treaty mustered 19 votes to 38 on the other side. This was their greatest strength. This vote was cast on the amendment giving the president power to revoke the duties proposed under the agreement at any time that Canada might abrogate the treaty and restore the schedule rates as they now exist. On other votes the opposition to the treaty cast from 12 to 14 votes. Senator Thornton of Louisiana refused to vote for any more of the amendments. He said he had voted for the amendment on Saturday, but would refrain from voting in the future. This reduced Cummins' Democratic following to two, Bailey and Simmons.

Senator Simmons made the principal speech of the day. He denounced the agreement, which he said was "partly protection and partly free trade, but no tariff for revenue in it."

Senators Differ in Opinions.

Several sharp clashes occurred between Democratic senators during the consideration of the amendments. Senators Bailey and Simmons on one hand contended that the Democratic party stood for tariff for revenue only, and Senators Williams and Stone taking the view that the Canadian reciprocity was in line with Democratic doctrine.

The voting, as on Saturday, demonstrated the hopelessness of the effort of the insurgent Republicans to amend the reciprocity bill. They were unable at any time to make the slightest inroad on the solid support of the Canadian bill. It seems now absolutely certain that the reciprocity bill will be passed next week without amendment, and the prospect for an adjournment of congress by Aug. 1 looks brighter than ever.

CHILLICOTHE MAN KILLS HIS TENANT

Farmer Claims That He Acts in Self-Defense.

Chillicothe, O., July 11.—The culmination of a quarrel over a load of hay was reached when Samuel Fauliani, a tenant, was stabbed to death by his landlord, Robert Hinton, a wealthy farmer. The killing occurred at Whistler, Pickaway county. The men had had a fight two weeks ago and when they met there was a renewal of the trouble.

Hinton alleges that his adversary was advancing on him with a club and that he used an ordinary pocket-knife in self defense. At last reports received here Hinton had not been arrested.

TAFT EXPLAINS ALASKAN DEAL

Declares Land Withdrawal Is Regular.

MATTER IS DECIDED AT CABINET MEETING

Statement Is Issued from the White House.

President in Plain, Frank Way Tells How Cabinet Finds It Better To Throw Entire Frontage of Controller Bay Open to Entry Than Permit Single Grant to One Concern—Matter Made Clear.

Washington, July 11.—The White House issued the following statement relative to the Controller bay incident:

R. S. Ryan, presenting credentials as the representative of the Controller Bay Navigation company, a concern independent of and in fact competing with the Guggenheim interests in Alaska, made a request of the president that the land fronting the bay be thrown open to entry in order that his company might secure a tract of 640 acres fronting on the bay as a terminal site. The request was referred to the forestry bureau, which reported that the land in question had been withdrawn as a part of the Chugach national forest, but was not forest land and could not be claimed as a part of a forest reserve. With the report of the forestry bureau attached, the request was sent to the interior department and other executive departments interested, and was latter presented by President Taft to the cabinet for consideration.

It was decided in the cabinet meeting that it would be wiser to throw the entire frontage of the bay open to entry than to permit a single grant to one concern which might operate as a monopolistic grant. The cabinet found that adequate protection to the interests of the government existed in the law, which provided that frontage land should be divided into tracts 80 rods in length, and that every alternate tract should be retained by the government, only every other 80-rod tract being subject to patent to an individual or corporation.

Entire Frontage Restored.

Accordingly, after approval by the cabinet President Taft issued an order restoring the entire frontage of the bay to entry, and Ryan was permitted to file a claim upon an alternate piece of land for terminal purposes. The order was in no sense secret. Little publicity was given to the matter at the time, as it was considered of minor interest and importance. The order, however, was issued in the regular routine way and was as public, so far as the government was concerned, as any order issued by the president.

Thorough search of the letter files at the White House failed to reveal any reference to Ryan in Charles P. Taft's letters to the president, and Mr. Taft says he has no recollection of having ever discussed the Controller bay situation with his brother.

LAKE STEAMERS IN A COLLISION

The John Mitchell Is Sent to the Bottom.

THE WRECK OCCURS OFF VERMILLION POINT

No Trace Can Be Found of the Steamer, Mack.

It Is Reported That Seven Passengers and Crew of Twenty of the Mitchell Perish—Steamer, Matoa, Reports Passing Through Wreckage of Window Screens, Life Rafts and Life Preservers.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., July 10.—According to members of the crew of the steamer, Matoa, today, the steamer, John Mitchell, up bound, was sunk last night, off Vermillion Point when she collided with the steamer, William H. Mack, and it is believed seven passengers on board and her crew of twenty have perished.

The William H. Mack is reported lying just off the point with her bow stove in and her superstructure just above the water. No trace of the John Mitchell can be found. The Matoa reports passing through wreckage consisting of window screens, life rafts and life preservers, indicating the total loss of the John Mitchell. The Mitchell was captained by John Massey and was loaded with coal for Superior, Wisconsin. The William H. Mack was bounded down, light from Marquette, Michigan.

The John Mitchell is owned by C. W. Elphicke & Company, of Chicago. Captain Massey and Chief Engineer D. W. Rice, of the reported lost boat, are also of Chicago.

LUPTON CULT SEEKING GIFT

Queer Antics Are Performed at Spirit Meeting.

CONVENTION HELD NEAR PITTSBURG

Worshipers Take Turns Answering the "Call."

By Tonight It Is Expected That the "Spirit" Will Seize Upon the Religious Enthusiasts and Cause Wild Exhilarations Similar to Demonstrations of Sunday, Which Amused Thousands.

Pittsburg, July 10.—Dignified women, portly men, frivolous girls and frenzied youths, all mumbling in some unintelligible jargon and performing queer antics in the straw on the ground, today continued to afford amusement to curiosity seekers at the sessions of the seven days' service of the Gift of Tongues cult at Homestead park.

Following the perspiring strenuosities of "seeing the light," yesterday, when 3,000 spectators were attracted, the services early today were resumed rather wearily. By tonight, however, it is expected that the spirit again will seize upon some of the religious enthusaists and cause wild exhiliarations. Speakers at the meetings put to shame ancient and medieval miracles with stories of modern examples. The Rev. James Hebden, of Toronto, Canada, said he was worrying about a mortgage. A brewery watchman told him to put his trust in the Lord. A few hours later the watchman sent him $100.

Services will continue all week. The Lupton sect, as it is sometimes called, has two big tents on the park grounds. The men are coatless, collarless, and perspire profusely in their ecstacy as they vie with the feminine worshipers in "answering the call."

A Turtle Creek woman's daughter tried to prevent her mother from becoming endowed with the "Gift of Tongues," but was unsuccessful and the stately matron, after the usual preliminaries, left the camp with the intention of surprising her husband with her new found attainments.

OVERPOWER GUARDS IN ESCAPE ATTEMPT

Epileptics Nearly Release Inmates of Gallipolis Hospital.

Gallipolis, O., July 11.—At the state epileptic hospital here five patients started a riot in a desperate attempt to gain their freedom. Two attendants on duty in the ward at the time and one patient who went to their aid were severely beaten. Other attendants and patients received minor injuries. The trouble was in Cottage I, where 220 of the most dangerous patients in the institution are confined. When one of the three guards on duty in the men's side of the ward was working in the garden with some of the more dependable patients, five of those who are permitted no privileges made a rush at the two remaining guards. With the cunning of epilepsy and insanity combined they fought viciously. For a time they threatened to secure the keys from the attendants and release themselves and the 1,500 inmates of the hospital.

An alarm sounded in the administration building brought Dr. George B. Kineah, the superintendent, at the head of a relief party. They cleared the quarter of a mile to the scene of the trouble in record time, and with superior forces managed to restore order.

CALLS PINCHOT DEEP PLOTTER

Ballinger Gets Back at Former Forester.

CONSERVATIONISTS OVERSHOOT MARK

Controller Bay Inquiry Will Be Boomerang.

Ballinger Laughs at Probe of Alaskan Affair, Which Begins Today, Saying Pinchot and His Supporters Will Be Painted in True Light, as Pinchot Tries To Keep Alaskan Coal Fields Closed.

Seattle, Wash., July 10.—Charging that Gifford Pinchot's mother is heavily interested in a West Virginia coal mine, with naval contracts, and that Pinchot desires to keep the Alaskan coal fields closed so that these contracts will be continued until the Panama canal is finisher, R. A. Ballinger, former secretary of the interior, declared yesterday that the conservationists have overshot their mark in calling for the records in the Controller Bay matter, to be used in the congressional investigation which opens today.

Ballinger was wreathed in smiles when interviewed regarding the Washington despatch to the effect that, beginning today, there will be an inquiry into the restoration of Alaska lands including the Controller Bay Shore line.

"The conservationists have overshot their mark this time, in calling for the records and correspondence in regard to Controller Bay, as they will show that the application for the restoration of the Controller Bay lands was approved by the forestry department and opposed by me," declared Ballinger. "This inquiry, heralded with much eclat, will act as a boomerang on the Pinchot supporters and followers."

Ryan's Connections.

Ballinger declared any letter from Ryan purporting to have been written to and received by himself was manufactured if it in any way resembled the now famous "Dear Dick" letter.

Ryan has been run down here as to his connections and it has been found that he is working for an English syndicate, bitterly opposed to the Morgan-Guggenheim combination, and that Probstwetzler & Company, Lord Court building, New York, are paying his expenses.

Ballinger says it is well known in and around Washington, D. C., that Pinchot's mother is heavily interested in the Pocahontas mine in West Virginia, and that that mine holds the naval contracts for the warships, navy yards, etc., on the Pacific coast. He further states that he believes the contracts to be one of the chief reasons for Pinchot's efforts to keep Alaska closed, otherwise the Pocahontas mine would not be in a position to bid for the naval contracts for at least three or four years or until the Panama canal was finished.

YEGGS MAKE GOOD HAUL IN CLEVELAND

Get Away with $2,000 in Cash This Morning.

Cleveland, July 10.—Two thousand dollars in cash and checks were obtained by yeggmen who cracked the safe of the Arnold Creamery company this morning. The half-ton office safe was moved into the center of the office, and holes drilled for nitroglycerin. Then the cracksmen evidently changed their plan of attack. Quietly cutting the bolts in the door they pried it open with a crowbar.

Trains Pile Up.

The train, running at high speed, jumped the track at a trestle and the engine and all of the cars except the two rear Pullmans piled up in the roadway thirty feet below. The two cars not damaged were filled with players of the St Louis National league baseball team, and they did heroic work getting the dead and injured out of the wreckage.

Curtis, the dead engineer, was unfamiliar with the run and did not know that the switch was set for his train to cross over to the outside track so that it might make the Bridgeport station stop.

When the firemen cut a hole in the side of the first of the wrecked Pullmans, a man crawled through, hauling his suit case after him. He had dressed in his berth and said he was not even scratched.

Crashes Over Viaduct.

Bridgeport Conn., July 11.—Rushing eastward forty miles an hour, the Federal express on the New Havan railroad plunged over a thirty foot viaduct on the outskirts of this city at 3:30 this morning, killing between twelve and fifteen persons and injuring fifty-five, of whom twenty will probably die.

The wreckage caught fire almost immediately, and the city fire department had to be called to prevent many of the passengers being roasted to death in the wreckage.

Cause of Derailment.

The train, made up of engine, baggage car, two day coaches and five sleepers, was more than an hour behind time and was running at high speed through the suburbs. As the engine reached the viaduct at State street and Fairfield avenue, in West Bridgeport, it swayed far over and the front of it struck the coping of the viaduct.

The impact threw the engine from the rails and it crashed over to the street carrying with it all of the cars with the exception of the two rear Pullmans.

The two day coaches were torn to pieces and most of the dead were later found in these cars. The heavy Pullmans piled up on the wreckage, the whole forming an indescribable mass of torn and twisted wood, iron and steel, which made the task of removing the dead and injured most difficult.

Passengers in the two cars which remained on the tracks started the work of rescue immediately and they were aided by the police and fire departments of this city.

It was necessary to chop a hole through the roof of the topmost cars to get at the injured and dead below.

In plunging to the street the express blocked all trolley traffic for several hours. There was a brilliant electrical display from the torn trolley wires, but none of the passengers was electrocuted as was early reported.

Wreckers came from New Haven, Bridgeport, and the Harlem river yards and ambulances and doctors from this city.

The road blames the dead engineer for the accident. In an official statement the road said that he violated the rules in taking a cross over on the viaduct at too great speed.

Official Statement.

New Haven, Conn., July 11.—Stating that thirteen persons were killed and forty-two injured in the Bridgeport wreck today, the New Haven railroad's press agent made the following statement:

"Train, No. 72, left Fairfield at 3:29 a. m., and was wrecked at 3:32 a. m., consisted of United States fish commission car, baggage car, coach and six sleepers, total nine cars.

"The engine and first six cars left the rails at the cross-over and went down the bank, most of them in the street at Fairfield avenue. Of the remaining three sleepers, two remained on the rails, while one of the sleepers was derailed.

"The accident was due to the engine striking the cross-over from track, No. 2, to track, No. 4, at a high rate of speed, estimated at close to sixty miles an hour.

"Time card rules specify fifteen miles an hour.

"The killed are Engineer A. M. Curtis, Fireman W. A. Ryan and eleven passengers.

"The injured are Conductor M. J. Furey and forty-one passengers. They are being taken care of in different hospitals at Bridgeport. Some of the passengers have proceeded on their way to Boston."

Ball Players Escape.

New York, July 11.—Roger Bresnahan seems to be the all-American all-around champion hero. The Cardinals' manager was first-aid-to-the-injured nurse at the wreck of the Washington-Boston express on the New Haven railroad this morning.

He telephone several of his friends here that he was uninjured and then, in answer to questions, told how he and Edward Konetchy and Ivey Wingo saved a woman, pinned under the wreckage, from fire.

None of the baseball players was injured, although all were shaken up when the sleepers left the rails. The cars were on the rear of the train and did not follow the other coaches down the embankment.

PICTURES GONE FROM ROTUNDA

Portraits of Three Former Governors Disappear.

STATE HUNTS FOR A CONVICT ARTIST

He Had Been Hired To Clean Oil Paintings.

In Place of Original Paintings of Governors Kirker, Lucas and Shannon Are Found Only Three Copies, Painted by a Columbus Woman—State Probes Mystery So Far Without Success.

Columbus, O., July 12.—The governor's office is trying to locate Henry Weidenbach, an artist, to find out what he did with portraits of former Governors Kirker, Lucas and Shannon, which hung in the capitol rotunda for many years.

Hanging in the place of the old originals now are three new oil paintings of the governors, painted by Mrs. E. J. Holingsworth, a local artist. Mrs. Hollingsworth is employed in the state library.

According to statements given out at the governor's office today, Weidenbach was taken from the Ohio penitentiary, where he was a convict, and put to work cleaning oil portraits that belong to the state.

Weidenbach, it is stated, reported that he was unable to clean portraits of the three governors named, declaring that they were not genuine oil paintings, but something on the order of crayon portraits, "doctored up" to look like oil paintings. They were so soiled that he was unable to restore them, he said

State Buys Paintings.

Mrs. Hollingsworth, who is interested in painting, took it upon herself, according to the governor's office, to paint portraits of the three governors, and in addition, one of Governor Tom Corwin. These she sold to the state, receiving $250 for each. Weidenbach, after finishing his work at the capitol, left for Albany, New York, presumably to work on paintings there. Several months ago, Governor Harmon granted him a pardon, largely on account of the value of his work to the state in cleaning oil paintings.

Since Weidenbach left the city, a search has been made for the original portraits of Governors Kirker, Lucas and Shannon, but they can not be found. The governor's office, when Weidenback is located, will try to learn whether he destroyed them, or still knows of their whereabouts.

CRIME CHARGED TO UNION MEN

High Union Officials in Chicago Indicted.

MATTER STIRS LABOR CIRCLES

American Federation of Labor Is Involved.

President of Chicago Building Trades Council, Business Agents of the Plumbers' and Steam Fitters' Unions and One Other Labor Official Are Indicted—How Labor Slugger Is Killed Is Explained.

Chicago, July 12.—Not since the arrest of the McNamara brothers and Ortie McManigal, charged with blowing up the Los Angeles Times, have labor circles here been so stirred as by today's announcement that the grand jury yesterday indicted four high union officials for murder.

The indicted men are Simon O'Donnell, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, with 60,000 members, and business agent of the United Association of Plumbers.

Thomas Kearney, business agent of the United Association of Plumbers.

James Garvin, business agent of the same union.

Maurice "Moss" Enright, alleged professional slugger and gun man, business agent of the Steam Fitters' union, which is associated with the United Association of Plumbers.

All are charged with the murder of Vincent Altman, professional slugger and murderer, killed in the saloon of the Briggs hotel, March 22.

Enright, who confessed that he later killed William 'Dutch" Gentleman, another labor slugger, is in jail charged with the murder of Altman. The other labor leaders had not been arrested up to an early hour today, but detectives were after them.

A Long Battle.

For years there has been a jurisdictional fight on in Chicago between the Building Trades council of the American Federation of Labor, of which O'Donnell is president, and an independent building trades council, of which "Skinny" Madden is president. Each of these councils maintains unions representing every branch of the building trade

The rivalry between these unions, especially between the plumbers and steam fitters, led to open warfare. It is alleged that Enright was hired as "slugger in chief" of the council connected with the American Federation of Labor, and Altman as chief slugger of the independent council.

It is charged that a plot to kill Altman was formulated in O'Donnell's room by the four men indicted; that Enright agreed to kill Altman for a certain sum of money, and that after the killing, Enright, with the help of his alleged conspirators, hid in O'Donnell's room, after throwing his overcoat and revolver in an upstairs room, where it was found later.

TAKES DIVE FROM WINDOW IN SLEEP

Butler Lad Dreams He Is Swimming but Soon Awakens.

Butler, Pa., July 12.—Earl McGinley, eleven-year-old son of John McGinley, of Karns City, is just learning to swim. For the past few nights his parents have been aroused by joyous cries of "Let's go in," and have gone to his room on the second floor, to find him "swimming" about the floor in his sleep.

Soundly sleeping yesterday morning he got up out of bed and, stepping to the window sill, he went through all the maneuvers of a diver, then plunged to the street, a distance of seventeen feet.

The lad's parents were attracted by his cries of agony, and found the boy lying on the ground at the side of his house. His left leg was fractured and he was suffering from extensive body bruises.

Young McGinley started out of his home in his sleep last Monday for a nearby swimming pool, and was seen by a policeman, who awakened him and took him back to his home.

COUNTY BORROWS TO CONTINUE BUSINESS

Timelock on Safe Is Thrown by Accident.

When the big steel door to the vault in the county treasurer's office was closed at 11.30 Wednesday morning, the timelock was thrown in some way so that the safe could not be opened until 11:30 o'clock that night. The timelock was set for twelve hours.

With a rush of taxpayers and all of the money in the vault, County Treasurer L. G Jones had no money with which to make change. He was unable to get any from the banks because the banks were closed on account of this being their weekly half-holiday. Finally seventy-five dollars in change was secured from a south Main street shooting gallery proprietor, and taxpayers were accommodated during the remainder of the day, or up to 4 o'clock, the closing hour.

LIGHTNING PLAYS FREAKISH PRANK

Strikes Auto Which Dashes Away and Is Wrecked as Result.

Coshocton, July 12.—While standing at the window of the operating room of Mt. Vernon hospital, clad in his operating gown, with his surgical instruments in his hands, Dr. Sherman Leach saw his new $6,500 touring car struck by lightning, the machine start from the spark, dash down a steep embankment and four terraces and demolish itself against an oak tree 100 feet away.

Sheman's chauffeur was lying on the grass thirty feet away at the time, enjoying the cool breeze which preceded the rain and electrical storm. He ran to the machine as it started down hill and was able to catch it, as the foot brake was set. He jumped to the running board, just as the big car went over the first terrace, and set the emergency brake, but it was too late.

It headed straight for a group of children playing in the street, and the chauffuer, seeing their predicament, grabbed the front wheel and deflected the course of the car from them into the tree. As the car went over the bottom terrace he was thrown from it and turned a double somersault in the air. He landed on his feet unhurt and the empty car struck the tree with great force, wrecking the car.

SECRETARY DENIES STORY OF ZELLER

Graves Says Hogan Must Rule on Text-Book Case.

Columbus, O, July 12.—Secretary of State Graves denies the statements made by former State School Commissioner Zeller in a letter to the Cleveland school board, to the effect that fifty-eight text-books used in the Cleveland schools would have to be thrown out because the state school commission had re-listed them.

E. G. LEWIS IS AGAIN INDICTED

St. Louis Publisher Is Charged with Violating Laws.

PREJUDICE CHARGED AGAINST PROSECUTOR

Federal Grand Juror Asks Court To Investigate.

Judge Replies That It Is the Duty of District Attorney To Instruct the Jury as to the Law—Says Fault of Too Many Jurors Is That They Want To Make Speeches to Other Members of Jury.

St Louis, July 12.—Edward G. Lewis, publisher of the Women's Magazine and the St Louis Star Chronicle, founder of the American Woman's league, and promoter of numerous enterprises capitalized at $1,000,000 each, was indicted by the federal grand jury, today, on twelve counts charging violation of the postal laws This is the second time Lewis has been indicted as a result of his business operations.

Eugene B. Stinde, an insurance man who was one of the federal grand jurors, declared in open court that he wanted to know if United States District Atorney Charles A. Houts had not exceeded his jurisdiction in the Lewis investigation.

"District Attorney Houts spoke to every grand juror and plainly manifested prejudice in this case," Stinde told Federal Judge Jacob Trieber, of Little Rock, who was sitting in the absence of United States District Judge David P. Dyer. "I want to know if I myself had the right to address the jury in an effort to counteract the opinion of Lewis left by District Attorney Houts?"

"It is the duty of the district attorney to instruct the jury as to the law," replied Judge Trieber "It is not obligatory on the grand jury to listen to the speeches of its members. That's the fault with too many grand jurors—they want to make speeches. If you were not satisfied about what transpired in the jury room, my instructions to you were to come back into court for further instructions."

NOTED LAWYER IS SUSPENDED

Lord Alverstone Rules in Newton Matter.

NEWTON IS MAN WHO DEFENDED CRIPPEN

Is Charged with Having Had Bogus Confession

English Court Declares Solicitor Misconducts the American's Case. Says Newton Acts Largely with a View to Furnishing "Copy" for Newspapers Which Subscribe to Crippen's Defense.

London, July 12.—Charged with having a "bogus" confession of Dr. Harvey Hawley Crippen, the American physician convicted and executed for the murder of his wife and of having misconducted the case, Arthur Newton, the solicitor who had charge of Crippen's defense, was today suspended from the practice of law for one year.

The order of suspension was made by Lord Alverstone, chief justice of England, and Justices Darling and Bankes, after a lengthy investigation.

The lord chief justice and two other jurists were convinced that Newton, two weeks after Crippen's execution, sold to a London paper what purported to be a confession from his client which was subsequently proven to have been false.

Justice Darling, in commenting upon the order of suspension, declared he was satisfied that Crippen had not been defended properly, and that the defense was conducted largely with a view of furnishing "copy" for the newspapers which had subscribed financially to his defense. Newton was ordered to pay all the expenses of the inquiry. The disbarment of Newton was asked by the Law Society of England.

Murderous Methods.

The action, today, in suspending Newton, has again drawn attention to what is termed the "murderous methods" of English criminal court procedure, which, it is declared, when a case is doubtful, renders it almost impossible for an innocent man or woman to escape conviction.

Considerable comment has been caused by the failure of the king's bench to entirely disbar Newton as requested by the Law society, in view of the fact that he served several months in jail on the charge of having spirited witnesses away in another case involving, it is said, a member of the royal house.

It is pointed out that the court's leniency follows closely upon the circulation of reports that Newton intended to publish a volume of his reminiscences if the ruling went against him.

During his professional career, Newton has been concerned in the handling of more cases involving shocking scandals in high life probably than any other man in England. It is even said that the revelations he is in a position to make concerning the life of a late member of the present English royal family, would turn the courts of England upside down.

THIS MOTION PICTURE TRAGEDY REAL ONE

Actor Drowns in Sham Rescue of a Girl in Small Pond.

New York, July 12.—Albert Brighton, 35, an actor, was drowned in a lake in the Fox Hills section of Staten Island. He was in the employ of a moving picture concern and at the time of his death was in the act of rescuing a young lady from the waters of Brady's pond, while the operator on the bank sent the film past the lens with lightning rapidity.

Brighton was a good swimmer, as was the young lady who was precipitated into the waters of the pond when the boat in which she was gathering water lilies capsized. Brighton was walking along the shore and at the cue from the operator plunged into the water and swam towards the struggling girl, who was merely treading water. Suddenly he disappeared from view and after a wait of several minutes the operator signaled the actress to swim ashore and the police were notified. After several hours' dredging the body was recovered.

Columbus, O., July 12.—Ignoring the recommendation of James R. Marker, when he was chief engineer of public works, the state board of public works has reelected Charles E. Hatch, of Akron, superintendent of the northern division of the Ohio canal.

Marker tried for months to have Hatch discharged. Last October, Marker made a report to the state board containing numerous charges against Hatch. An investigation was conducted by Attorney General Denman and Attorney Henry J. Booth, of Columbus, but no official report has been made.
